NYC Board Bucks Young; Fight Looms

Rejects Directorship Bid; Proxy War May Mark Annual Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Rejection of Robert R. Young as a director and chairman of the board of the New York Central Railroad threatened today to touch off a wide-open battle for control of the vast rail system.

Young, who controls the railroad's largest individual stock holding, denounced the present Board of Directors after its action yesterday.

Issues Statement

In a statement from his Palm Beach, Fla., home, he declared: "The real issue is whether the owners of the properties are going to be made to continue to submit to a Morgan nonownership board with countless conflicting interests or whether they are to enjoy what every honest business under our American system must have if shareholders and the public are to be served instead of be damned.

"That is an ownership board with a strong ownership in its chair. The New York Central owners, I am sure, on May 26 will give the right answer."

The railroad's annual meeting, at which all shares can be voted in an election for a new Board of Directors, is scheduled for May 26 in Albany, N.Y.

Young had requested that both he and his associate, Allan P. Kirby, be named to the board.

Held 5-Hour Meeting

After a five-hour secret meeting, the directors announced:

"The board unanimously decided that it would be inimical to the best interest of the company to grant Mr. Young's request."

The board said it rejected not only the request that Young and Kirby be made directors but also "Mr Young's insistence that he must become its chairman and chief executive officer."

Young denied he sought to take over the post of William White, president of the Central. "This Morgan board," Young said, "now seeks to confuse the issue by asserting that I, the largest known individual stockholder, desire to substitute myself for Mr. White as chief operating executive. Nothing is further from the fact."

Breaks With Tradition

Young, 56, has long fought old-line railroad men and criticized many traditional railroad methods. He has advanced plans to win back business to the railroads by heavy advertising and promotion and new and better equipment.

For years he has sought a voice in running the New York Central. In 1947 he was invited to become a director, but the Interstate Commerce Commission barred him because he then was chairman of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. The ICC forbids interlocking directorates for the two railroads on grounds that they would cut competition.

Young made himself available for election to the Central board by resigning his post with the C&O last Jan. 19.

Has Largest Single Bloc

The largest single holding of New York Central stock is that of the C&O, which owns 800,000 shares, acquired while Young was head of the C&O. This represents about 12½ per cent of Central stock, but the C&O has not been allowed to vote it. Under an ICC order the shares are held by the Chase National Bank as an independent voting trustee.

Reliable sources figure holdings of Young and his associates amount to about 300,000 shares, or about 5 per cent of the total shares.

The largest holding among president directors of the railroad is that of Harold S. Vanderbilt, who has 10,000 shares. Director George Whitney, board chairman of J. P. Morgan & Co., represents 100 shares.

The bulk of the Central's 6,447,410 shares are widely held.

A spokesman for Young said yesterday he will come to New York early next week to launch a campaign to get stockholders' voting proxies.

White said that if such a campaign develops, "you may be sure that the New York Central board and its management will likewise be soliciting proxies."

Vietminh Force Preparing For Attack on Laos Capital

WON'T GO WITH EITHER SIDE. Small band of South Koreans heckles a group of 86 North Korean and Chinese POWs who refuse to return to either the United Nations command or go over to the Communists. Note the hecklers on the roof of a house in the background. The prisoners, singing songs, didn't hear the taunts thrown at them. The military police finally routed the hecklers from the Inchon port area.

Moves Within Nine Miles of Royal Palace

1,500-Man Vanguard Screening Advance by Communist Division

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — Ten thousand Vietminh invaders of Laos advanced today to a point on the Hou River only 37 jungle miles northeast of Luang Prabang, the royal capital that the French and ailing old King Sisavong Vong have vowed to defend.

A vanguard of 1,500 regional troops was within nine miles or less of the town, screening the advance of the rebel regulars of Vietminh Division 308, but so far had not opened an attack.

Advances 19 Miles

The main force of the division, diverted last week from the siege of Dien Bien Phu for the thrust into Laos from north Viet Nam, had advanced 19 miles in 24 hours. At that pace, it was only two days' march from Luang Prabang.

French Union briefing officers said the objective of the Communist-led forces had not been ascertained. The division was withdrawn from the mountains around Dien Bien Phu, leaving others to maintain pressure, when the rebels found that stronghold heavily fortified by the French.

The garrison of Luang Prabang has been reinforced in the last few days. Military observers speculated that any assault might not come before early next week.

Collection of Huts

Aside from the palaces of the King and Crown Prince Savang, the town is a collection of frail wooden buildings and huts. It lies on the Mekong River. The Hou, on which the rebel division massed, flows into the Mekong north of the town. A jungle path leads 135 miles southward to Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos.

Luang Prabang has little strategic value, but the Reds could make much propaganda in Southeast Asia if they could seize it and capture the King or his son.

In southeast Viet Nam, where French Union troops made a landing last month to regain a rich strip of coastal rice country from the rebels, a consolidation of gains was reported. Army headquarters

Ike's Advice Unheeded

Senators Continue To Rap Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh senatorial charges that Democrats had consorted with Communists indicated today President Eisenhower's advice to Republicans to soften their political blows may be ignored outside his own Cabinet and staff.

Reiterating his characterization of Democratic administrations as "20 years of treason," Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said he will not change his tactics to win Democratic support for parts of Eisenhower's program.

'Price Too High'

"The price is too high," he told a Lincoln Day audience of some 6,000 persons in San Mateo, Calif., last night. Referring to the Democrats, he declared that "we can't whitewash them or we would be guilty of a crime worse than theirs."

McCarthy and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), insisting they are only reciting the facts, said they intend to continue to do so.

Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee said at Portland, Ore., that Eisenhower did not go far enough when he said he would advise his official family to avoid extreme partisanship.

Eisenhower said the times are too serious for such partisanship.

'Failed To Meet Issue'

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) said the President "failed to meet the issue." He said, "We don't mind the extreme partisanship, but it is the extreme treason" which he said some GOP speakers have been attributing to Democrats.

The President told his news conference yesterday he cheerfully admits he needs Democratic support for some parts of his legislative program, but he added he isn't much of a partisan and knows of no way he can stop this sort of thing except among members of his official family.

McCarthy told newsmen in San Francisco, ahead of his speech in suburban San Mateo: "I intend to continue giving to the American people all the facts . . . It isn't abuse to tell what's going on. When it hurts, the Democrats scream . . . It is our party's duty to expose the details of 20 years of treason."

Similarly, Jenner said at New Castle, Ind., that "I propose to tell the truth regardless of politics."

In his Lincoln Day talk, Jenner made no reference to the President's remarks but he said: "Don't let anyone tell you communism will not be an issue in the coming campaign. It must and will continue to be until we get the rats out of government."

Eisenhower said last year he hopes that any fear of Reds "actively undermining" the government will have vanished by November's congressional elections.

Jenner told his audience that

Marion Man Held for Jury In Fatal Mishap

James M. Thompson, 21, of 433 Lee St. was bound over to grand jury Wednesday charged with manslaughter in the traffic death of Mrs. Goldie Baker.

Thompson was arrested on a warrant at 9:50 a.m. Wednesday at the police station and arraigned before Judge W. Dexter Hazen in the regular 10 a.m. court session. Thompson pleaded not guilty. Judge Hazen ordered him bound over to the grand jury and released him on $1,000 bond.

The charges were filed Tuesday following the death of Mrs. Baker, 46, of 416½ Silver St. Monday in City Hospital. She was fatally injured when struck by Thompson's car at Davids St. and Woodrow Ave. Saturday night.

Thompson is accused of failure to yield the right of way to a pedestrian lawfully crossing the street, failure to operate his car with due regard for the safety of pedestrians, operating his car so as to endanger the life of Mrs. Baker and failure to drive safely and at a speed enabling him to stop within assured clear distance ahead.

Injured with Mrs. Baker was Martin Rice, 46, of Silver St. The pair were crossing Davids St. and Thompson was driving north on Davids after making a left turn from Bellefontaine Ave. Rice received only minor injuries.

Thompson later told police he had been blinded by headlights of approaching automobiles and had not seen the pedestrians in time to avoid hitting them. Rice told officers he and Mrs. Baker did not see Thompson's car apwere three-fourths of the way across the street when struck and proaching.

$125,000 in Diamonds Seized by Customs Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Customs Bureau announced today its officers in New York seized about $125,000 worth of diamonds from a woman as she arrived by plane yesterday from London.

The announcement said the diamonds were taken from Mrs. Esther Katz, a resident of Israel, who had failed to declare them. She was arrested at Idlewild Airport.

St. Louis Gang Killing Probed

City's Former No. 1 Racketeer Cut Down

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Another gangland killing confronted police today with the gangster style slaying of Tony Cipriano, once St.Louis' No. 1 bad man on a quiet residential street.

Cipriano, 45-year-old ex-convict who operated a St.Louis tavern, was shot several times last night with a small caliber weapon.

As yet unsolved by police is the gangland killing of John (Buddy) Lugar, an ex-convict questioned in St. Louis bombings and shootings, who was slain in nearby Madison County, Ill., New Year's morning.

Cipriano was a brother of the notorious Caesar Cipriano, a gunman slain in 1926 gang warfare

Fire Captain Takes Stand in Mansfield Trial

Testifies on Report In Sternbaum Hearing On Charge of Murder

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A Mansfield fire captain today testified he smelled "petroleum based fluid or oil of some kind" in the charred room where he found the body of Mrs. Leah Sternbaum Dec. 4, 1952.

Fire Capt. Clarence Hall, a state witness in the first-degree murder trial of E. Max Sternbaum, testified on the report he submitted following the fire in the Sternbaum Supermarket office.

Sternbaum is charged with killing his wife Leah and with setting fire to the small office building.

One of three state witnesses to testify this morning, Hall said he found the office room upset and papers strewn about.

He told of uncovering Mrs. Sternbaum's face and finding blood on his hands.

Hall said when he arrived, Sternbaum was lying on the sidewalk calling "My wife's in there. Get her out."

Other witnesses were the funeral director who took the body and George Cunitz, county engineer.

Chaplin's Wife Becomes New British Subject

Playwright's Daughter Renounces U.S.; Actor Husband Banned Here

LONDON (AP)—Britain counted American-born Oona O'Neill Chaplin among its newest citizens today. She renounced her allegiance to the United States, which won't readmit her aging film comedian husband until he satisfactorily answers accusations of Communist sympathies and "grave moral charges."

"Isn't it lovely? Isn't it just cute?" the 29-year-old Oona asked, as she waved her new dark blue and gold British passport at reporters last night when she and her 64-year-old husband Charles flew into London from Switzerland.

Later the British-born Chaplin, who despite 40 years in Hollywood never surrendered his original citizenship, told a news conference at their hotel:

"I'm very proud to announce my wife is now a British citizen."

"I'm very glad to be taking my husband's nationality," chimed in Oona, whose teen-age marriage estranged her from her late father, American playwright Eugene O'Neill.

"This is one of my proudest moments," echoed Chaplin. He announced last April he would never return to America, where, he charged, he had been the

Last Union Army Veteran Observes 107th Birthday

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A letter of congratulations from President Eisenhower was tucked in among the hundreds of cards and messages that arrived today at the home of chipper, old Albert Woolson, last survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War.

The veteran was celebrating his 107th birthday today. The message from the President read:

"My warm congratulations go to you on your 107th birthday. As America's veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic you have special cause for pride and for national recognition on this significant anniversary. I send you my best wishes for your continued health and happiness."

Sitting with a large pile of cards and letters in his lap, Woolson chuckled, "I'm almost smothered in kind wishes."

Most of the states were represented among the stack of birthday messages that began arriving Wednesday. Many cards were in the childish scrawl of school youngsters. Many were from veterans' and civic organizations. Last year there were more than 8,000 such messages.

Woolson, who enjoys good health, served about a year in an artillery regiment before being mustered out in the Civil War.

His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kobus, live here with him.

"I'm just beginning to feel like I'm not a boy any more," said the drummer boy who considers himself ageless and thinks neighbors of 70 or 80 are "old."

In a deep, booming voice Woolson told newsmen, "I have led a good moral life—the only habit I've had that some people might consider bad is smoking cigars."

As soon as darkness falls tonight on this Lake Superior port city, hundreds of school children and residents will gather in front of Woolson's home to serenade him. The high school band will play and there will be a Paul Bunyan-sized cake from which Woolson will get the first piece.

The songs and band music will not be audible to the old veteran, who has lost his hearing. But Woolson, who "enjoys people so much" will get the meaning of the serenade.

"God bless you," he told early birthday callers. "It was so nice of you to come."

Suspect Signs Confession in Double Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—Defiantly shouting "I killed two Communists, I ought to get a medal," ex-dishwasher Harry Weinberg was taken to police headquarters today for formal arraignment as the slayer of Maxwell Bodenheim and the eccentric poet-author's third wife.

The unkempt prisoner, captured as he tried to flee from a hideout yesterday and who signed a statement after 10 hours of questioning, was relaxed and casual as he arrived for the routine of fingerprints, lineup and other formalities.

As he was led off, the 25-year-old Weinberg turned suddenly and shouted to spectators:

"I killed two Communists . . . I ought to get a medal from Washington, D. C. Don't forget to get that in the paper."

Thus far police have remained silent on whether any motive for the murders was uncovered during the long question session yesterday. Weinberg at first told conflicting stories:

He admitted, police said, shooting 58-year-old Bodenheim, but said the derelict ex-writer killed his wife, the former Ruth Fagan, 35. Then he denied everything, subsequently asserted the shooting resulted from a drunken row. The next version was he tried to make love to the woman and Bodenheim fought him. Several times he declared: "Maybe there was somebody under the bed."

Finally, police said, he signed a statement confessing both crimes. He was smiling and unconcerned when booked.

The bodies of the couple were found Sunday in a dingy lower East Side room rented by Wein-

Jack Webb Given Edge In TV Awards Tonight

HOLLWOOD (AP)—Tonight is television's big night in Hollywood. The TV Academy is handing out its Emmies to the greats of the home screen.

The Palladium Dance Palace is the scene for a gala gathering of 1,300 TV stars, craftsmen, technicians and press who will learn the winners of the sixth annual awards.

Local sentiment is counting on Jack Webb to come through with top awards over his rivals. His laconic-talking "Dragnet" has overtaken last year's topper, "I Love Lucy," in the audience ratings. It is expected that the cops-and-hoodlums series will demonstrate its success in the awards.

May Weaken

French Eye Soviet Security Pact Bait

BERLIN (AP)—V. M. Molotov's security pact bait, already spurned by the Western foreign ministers, appeared loaded today with considerable popular appeal for West Europeans—and particularly for the French. Some nibbling may develop long after the Big Four conference ends.

French observers deemed the Soviet proposal's clause calling for the neutralization of Germany would mean fresh trouble for Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in his fight to get the six-nation European Defense Community Treaty ratified by France's balking Parliament.

Wants To Kill Both

The Soviet foreign minister's avowed aim is to do away with both that treaty, which would arm West Germans along with French, Italian, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourgers under unified command, and the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet proposal for a Big Four meeting with Communist China and rival Soviet and French proposals for a world disarmament conference were up for renewed discussion today at the second secret session of the Big Four ministers conference.

Tonight the Westerners entertain Molotov's delegation at a cocktail reception. Tomorrow the ministers start discussing the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

In yesterday's regular meeting at West Berlin's old Allied Control Authority Building, Molotov offered Europe a 50-year collective security pact in return for expelling United States armed forces from the continent and shattering the Western alliance.

Plays on French Fears

He sought to promote a European security conference at some time in the future. This proposal was certain to invite hesitant French parliamentarians—pegging their opposition to traditional French fears of a revival of German militarism—to delay yet more months on EDC. And in such an interval a rising impatience could be expected in the U.S. Congress, which votes the funds that have been the backbone of Western defense.

Molotov got his answer from Britain and France in perhaps the most dramatic hour of the Big Four conference. Indirectly, it was an answer also to warnings by Secretary of State Dulles that the United States will get out of European affairs if Europe so desires.

Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, facing Molotov across the conference table, called on the United States to stay in Europe. They said Britain and France choose to remain in NATO, of which the United States is the cornerstone.

Dulles Answer

Dulles remarked that NATO is a defense organization directed at no one.

"The United States, I think, has never intruded itself as an unwanted participant in European affairs and we do not have any intentions of doing so in the future," the secretary said.

It is up to the European states, he said, to make the decisions.

State Department subordinates put great stress on the conclusion of Dulles' reply to the Molotov proposal:

"Whether or not the Soviet proposal of today will obliterate that division of Europe (between those who have been absorbed by Russia and those who do not want to be absorbed) is, as I say, something which is primarily to be considered by other states than the United States.

"So far as the United States is concerned, we are determined that we will not be absorbed."

Cleveland Chief Cites 15 Police In Vice Probe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police Chief Frank Story charged 15 of his men with neglect of duty today and suspended them on grounds they failed to close down a house of prostitution.

One of the 15, Lt. Alfred Weber, who tried to kill himself after his picture was published in the Cleveland Press in connection with the reputed bawdy house, also was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

All 15 are to appear before Safety Director John N. McCormick within the next five days, and are subject to dismissal if convicted.

The charges grew out of an 11-day investigation of vice squad handling of a rooming house run by Papa Joe Cremati on Prospect avenue. Cremati has been charged with keeping a house of prostitution and for statutory rape of a 13-year-old girl found in the house in a raid Jan. 31.

Cupid's Cake Will Capture All Hearts

Pink Frosting Decorates Party Fare Made of Prepared Mix

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

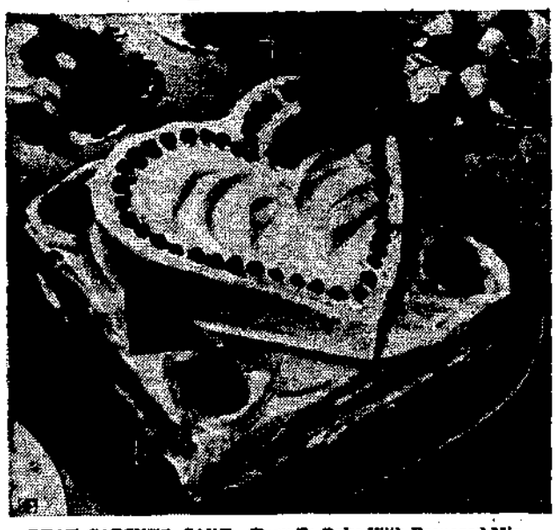
Capture their hearts with this Cupid's cake! It will look and taste scrumptious at a Valentine party and you can get a lot of servings out of it.

To make it, we used two of the new 20-ounce packages of cake mix to which you add fresh eggs. One package makes a generous nine-inch square for the base. The other package makes two round layers. With the help of a paper pattern, fashion a heart out of one of these round layers for the top of your Cupid's cake. Store the other round layer away for dessert another day — cake made from this mix keeps well.

To be sure that your cake frosting is glamorously smooth and satiny, and has a marshmallowy texture, follow this simple technique. After you have beaten and cooked the frosting, pour it into a clean bowl without scraping the sides of the pan. Add the vanilla and beat another minute or until the frosting is just the right spreading consistency. Transferring to another bowl in this way eliminates the possibility of stirring in the sugar crystals that collect around the sides of the saucepan.

And here's a decorating tip. Use freshly sterilized tweezers to put on those tiny red cinamon hearts with precision. It's so easy to do this way, and gives such a trim effect.

Let your heart show this Valentine's Day — especially on your cake!



BEAU CATCHER CAKE. Easy To Bake With Prepared Mix.

CUPID'S CAKE

Ingredients: 2 packages (20 ounces each) yellow cake mix, 2 cups water, 4 eggs (unbeaten), Seven Minute Frosting, red cinnamon candy hearts, heart-shaped gumdrops, red cardboard arrow.

Method: Prepare 1 package of cake mix adding 1 cup water and 2 eggs as directed on the package. Bake in square pan (9 by 2 inches), lined on bottom with ungreased waxed paper, in moderate (350F) oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until cake springs back if pressed gently in center with finger. Cool cake according to package directions, then remove from pan. Prepare second package of cake mix in the same way, using remaining 1 cup water and 2 eggs. Bake in two round 8-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with ungreased waxed paper, in moderate (350F) oven about 30 minutes. Cool cake according to package directions, then remove from pan. Place the 9-inch square cake on a large flat plate. Trim one of the layer cakes into a heart-shaped cake. (Use other layer for another day's dessert.) Spread part of Pink Frosting over top and sides of 9-inch square cake. Place heart - shaped cake on top and frost generously. Outline heart layer with cinnamon candy hearts and place a gumdrop heart in each corner of square cake. Cut arrow in half and insert in cake so it appears to pierce the heart.

PINK FROSTING

Ingredients: 2 egg whites (unbeaten), 1½ cups sugar, dash of salt, 1-3 cup water, 2 teaspoons light corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, red food coloring.

Method: Put egg whites, sugar, salt, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute to blend. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) until frosting will stand in stiff peaks—about 7 minutes. Remove from heat. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Tint pink with red food coloring.

Pueblo Boss Quits But Not in Correct Way, Tribe Claims

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—Gov. Conard Lessarley of Zuni Pueblo, 28 miles south of here, has submitted his resignation, but tribal councilmen complain he hasn't done it in the accepted manner.

Lessarley left the pueblo recently to take a job as a native guide on Santa Fe Railway trains through the picturesque Indian country between Gallup and Raton.

But Leo Quetewke, teniente or head councilman, says Lessarley should have turned over a cane, given the Zunis in 1863 by President Lincoln, to the lieutenant governor.

Meet With Women Voters

Commissioners Cite Voting Machines, Elevator and Repairs as Top Problems

Marion County government, its functions and problems, were discussed by members and guests of the Marion League of Women Voters when they met with commissioners Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Paul Wolf, chairman of the county resource committee for the League, opened the discussion by directing questions to Howard McCurdy, Luther Mitchell and Ray Reidenbaugh, commissioners, in the office in the courthouse.

A DETAILED explanation of how county business is carried out brought out the fact that according to state law the commissioners are required to meet only four times a year, on the first Monday of March, June, September, and December, with special sessions as often as the board deems necessary. However, in actual practice commissioners here meet every Monday and Thursday to transact business.

Further questions from the group of about 30 women attending the meeting brought out the fact that the county's largest expenditures are for public welfare and roads. Funds for public welfare come for the most part from property taxes, while the road funds are obtained from gasoline taxes.

Another large expenditure is that required for the cost of caring for tuberculosis cases in sanatoriums, which last year totaled $52,000. Approximately 90 per cent of these patients live in the city.

LEAGUE MEMBERS were particularly interested in knowing what is being done to reduce the incidence of tuberculosis and it was brought out that large-scale X-raying is carried on through the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association. By employing this method, cases are discovered early and this eventually would eliminate advanced cases which require more extensive hospitalization.

A question was asked as to whether routine X-raying of all patients when the new city-county hospital is opened would help in early detection. Commissioners felt that this was a possibility.

Some of the big problems facing the county commissioners listed were living within the budget, installation of an elevator in the courthouse, adoption of voting machines, and the serious need of repairs to the County Home, Children's Home, county jail and the courthouse.

IN THE COURSE of this discussion League members indicated their concern over the fact that the present hospital quarters in the County Home present a serious fire hazard as this ward is on the second floor directly over the kitchen and could become a fire trap.

In answer to inquiries as to whether such patients might not be sent to the City Hospital, it was learned that the care there would cost $16.50 per day per patient as compared with $4.50 per day at the County Home.

Plans had been drawn up for a 36-bed hospital unit which could be built if a half-mill levy for one year wald be approved by the voters.

Members further learned that the County Home is nearly self-supporting.

League members felt that public interest should be obtained for an understanding of the needs of our older citizens who find it necessary to reside at the home. Comparison was made of the interest exhibited by local service and civic groups in the problems of the Children's Home and the apparent lack of interest in the County Home.

IN ANSWER to a question as to where funds could be obtained in case of emergency needs such as might arise at the home, commissioners informed league members that according to law they are permitted to put the county in debt up to $20,000 for emergency use only. Lack of a fire hydrant near the County Home at present also was discussed.

Another aspect of county business was brought out in answer to questions as to how appropriations for the various department are determined. Commissioners related that budget requests are received from each official for his particular office. The auditor brings in the certification in January for the amount of money available for the year. This year, commissioners said requests were $100,000 higher than the amount of funds available.

WITH REFERENCE to the repairs and improvements needed in the courthouse, League members found that it needs re-wiring, plumbing repairs, improvement of floors and the ladies waiting room, and that it has just cost the county about a thousand dollars to repair 23 gas leaks in the building.

As to the question of how the courthouse got into such a deteriorated condition, commissioners pointed out that the past theory of postponement until costs came down was instrumental. Compared with present-day costs of operation, income has not kept pace with expenditures, commissioners said.

In answer to queries about the feasibility of a short ballot whereby officials for some offices could be appointed, the commissioners all expressed the feeling that elected public officials are closer to the voters.

LEAGUE MEMBERS asked whether responsibility for county government is as centralized as it should be for efficient administration. To this commissioners expressed their feeling that centralization is not necessarily efficient. Each county department assumes as much responsibility as it possibly can and the commissioners do not dictate policy to the departments, they told League members.

Further questioning developed the information that the county appropriates $5,000 to the Fair Board yearly.

An appointive judiciary was also discussed and to these questions commissioners felt that it is preferable to have judges run for office on a non-partisan ballot rather than to have them appointed.

Mrs. William Diem was the unit leader for this meeting, and Mrs. Walter Sinden was discussion leader. Another meeting on Feb. 24 will be devoted to members seeking to reach a decision on the questions of solving county government problems.

President Asks Governors Pay Visit to Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Eisenhower's suggestion, a group of state governors will go to Korea about April 1 to appraise the situation there and report to the American people.

The White House made public today an Eisenhower letter to Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, chairman of the governors' conference, saying such a trip "would be highly beneficial."

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said in response to a question that Thornton and members of his Executive Committee have agreed to make the trip.

Names of the governors who will accompany Thornton will be announced later.

Blade Endorses Saxbe's Bid for Post in Senate

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—William Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, today received the editorial endorsement of the Toledo Blade for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator.

Both Saxbe, of Mechanicsburg, and his Republican primary opponent, Rep. George H. Bender of Cleveland, were to be in Toledo today. Bender was to deliver the address at the Lincoln Day dinner.

In its editorial endorsement the Blade said "We think he (Saxbe) can give the party the new type of leadership it needs." The article also said that in Saxbe are combined "brains and ability and savvy . . . to form a unique political personality."

The editorial declared much of the credit for the record of the current administration of Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche must be given to Saxbe because of his demonstrations that "affairs of state cannot be handled on a narrow partisan basis." The editorial particularly lauded Saxbe for supporting Gov. Lausche in the bitter debate with the trucking industry over the axle-mile tax.

Politically, the Blade is independent. In the last senatorial campaign in Ohio it endorsed Michael V. DiSalle, a Toledo Democrat, who was defeated by Sen. John Bricker.

Indochina

announced that 35,000 inhabitants had returned to their homes since the first flurry of action established the French beachhead at Tuy Hoa. Many had been ordered out of the area by the retreating Reds.

Strike at French

In withdrawing from the coast, the Vietminh managed to make a dent in French holdings in the plateau country to the west. They occupied Kontum, a trading center of 10,500 about 260 miles north of Saigon, after its French Union garrison withdrew.

At Pleiku, about 30 miles south of Kontum, a French and Vietnamese force still held on.

In Saigon today, French Defense Minister Rene Pleven met with French Union leaders to study war needs in materials and additional manpower.

The French announced yesterday that 105 U.S. Air Force technicians had arrived last week to help maintain American-supplied planes "for civilian cargoes." Presumably these were in addition to 125 such technicians previously reported helping the French in Indochina.

Minor Traffic Accident Reported by City Police

One minor traffic accident was reported today by Marion police. The Marion post of the state highway patrol reported none.

At 4:28 yesterday afternoon cars driven by James A. Blankenship of 381 Fahey St. and Harry Morris, 65, of 334 Edgewood Dr. collided at the corner of W. Center St. and Park Blvd. The Morris car sustained no damage, while the left side of the Blankenship auto was moderately damaged.

New Orleans welcomes about a quarter million visitors a year to its Mardi Gras entertainments.

Marion Man's Bulldog Earns Championship

A Marion show dog has skyrocketed from a house pet to a recognized American champion in just four shows.

D'Parshall Suzette, two-year-old French bulldog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Parshall, 694 Girard Ave., Tuesday night won best of opposite sex classification at the Westminster Dog Show in Madison Square Garden, New York. The dog had entered needing only four points to win championship recognition by the American Kennel Club.

To be declared a champion a dog must accumulate a total of 15 points and two major show victories.

In her appearance at the International Dog Show in Chicago, D'Parshall Suzette walked away with best of opposite sex award and notched four points and a major. In a Detroit show the local dog defeated the two other French bulldogs entered for two points.

Her best moment came in the Westchester Dog Show at Rye, N. Y. This is a French Bulldog specialty show. Suzette came through with flying colors, defeating 30 dogs including eight international champions, to place best of opposite sex. She received the maximum of five points and one major.

Tuesday in the Westminster show—the top dog event in this country—the Marion dog defeated 14 of the nation's best French bulldogs to win the same opposite sex prize and four points and one major, more than enough to make her a champion.

Mr. Parshall reports that after the show he received an offer of $1000 for the animal. He paid $100 for the dog, buying it as a pet for his children. Dr. Merritt K. Marshall of Marion saw the dog and urged him to train it to show.

Parshall says the black, white-breasted dog, champion or not, is still a good playmate for his children, very gentle and even-tempered. He plans to show the dog in Detroit and Flint, Mich. next month and at the International Dog Show in Chicago again this April. After that, he'll retire Suzette for breeding.

Handlers for the champion have been Earl Schaeffer of Marion and Tom Crowe of Niles.

Court of Appeals Upholds Crawford County Decision

BUCYRUS — The Third District Court of Appeals at Lima has upheld a Crawford County common pleas court jury verdict, declaring invalid the purported will of the late Mrs. Maude T. Flannery of Galion, Clerk of Courts G. William Dustman announced here today.

The appellate court heard the appeal here last Nov. 17 filed by Mrs. Mary Margaret Hipp of Galion, a daughter of the deceased woman and executrix of the estate. Plaintiff in the action was Mrs. Margaretta Flannery of Bucyrus, guardian of her husband, Bernard, a son of Mrs. Flannery.

Court attaches pointed out that the appellate court's decision means that an impartial administrator will be appointed to distribute assets of the estate, unofficially estimated at in excess of $100,000, unless Mrs. Hipp carries the suit to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The will, which the jury found invalid, provided that the bulk of the estate be bequeathed to Mrs. Hipp.

Ex-Convict Shot, Killed In Robbery at Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five minutes after a window-smashing burglary at a Euclid avenue fur store, a paroled convict was shot and killed by a patrolman today on E. 18th street.

The dead man was identified as Robert Jones, 32, who had been paroled last September from Ohio Penitentiary, where he had served four years for burglary.

Coffee Control Bill Slated for House Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Angell (R-Ore) said today he will ask early House action on a bill to impose government controls over speculation and futures trading in coffee.

Without a record vote or debate, the Senate voiced approval of the measure yesterday, apparently reflecting nationwide concern over recent increases in coffee prices.

Angell said he believes government regulation "would control any skulduggery or price fixing in coffee."

Chairman Hope (R-Kan) said the House Agriculture Committee probably would consider the coffee controls measure during the next week.

The legislation will not halt two current investigations into causes for the recent jump in coffee prices.

One is by a Senate banking subcommittee headed by Sen. Beall (R-Md), who supports the controls. The other is by the Federal Trade Commission.

The Coffee and Sugar Exchange in New York asked its members yesterday to cooperate with the Beall subcommittee by providing lists of traders and information on transactions.

8 Drivers Stopped By Marion Police

Eight traffic arrests were reported today by the Marion police.

Those arrested, charges and disposition of cases are as follows:

Max Mullen, 40, 384 N. Main St., speeding, cited to appear in Municipal Court today; Edward Werner, 46, Worthington, speeding, posted bond for appearance Saturday; Roger E. Patton, 31, near Ridgeway, no turn signal, posted bond for appearance today; George B. Albright, 52, Findlay, passing in no passing zone, posted bond for appearance today; James E. Robinson, 19, Mt. Elliott Jr., 39, near Casey, Ill., failure to register a motor vehicle, posted his truck as bond pending appearance today; and Thomas D. Edwards of Elyria, speeding, posted bond for an appearance today.

Toledo Named Surplus Labor Area, To Seek Defense Orders

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—With about 16,500 persons out of work, this automotive and electrical center has been designated a surplus labor area.

A Labor Department announcement from Washington yesterday, declaring the Toledo area critical, set unemployment at 6.6 of those covered by the unemployment compensation act.

The announcement said the city's non-farm working force was 156,000 in mid-January, down 13,000 from a year ago.

A "critical" designation had been asked for Toledo so the city's industries could compete for defense contracts set aside by the government for areas having at least six per cent of their workers jobless.

Included in the Toledo area are Lucas County and the township of Rossford in Wood County. Unemployment figures cited by the Labor Department were attributed to a survey by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment compensation. The announcement said:

"Employment in the Toledo area continued to trend downward during the closing weeks of January, after particularly sharp reductions had cut area payrolls by more than 6,000 between mid-November and mid-January.

"At its current level, unemployment represents nearly nine per cent of the area's labor force, indicating that close to one of every 11 area workers were unemployed at the end of January.

Livestock Unit Names Four to Advisory Board

Advisory board members were elected and reports made at the annual meeting of the Producers Livestock Cooperative Association last night at Pleasant Township School.

Elected to the advisory board were Robert Isler of near Prospect, Ed H. Schweinfurth of LaRue, John Fairchild of near Marion and Carl Rider of near Marion.

Present board members are Don Foos of near Marion, Walter Mautz of near Marion, Willard Davison of near Marion and Paul Almendinger of near Prospect.

A report of the Marion Branch's business for the year showed that the volume of livestock handled included 20,818 head of cattle valued at $2,750,808; 10,415 head of veal calves valued at $355,747, 63,306 head of hogs valued at $2,981,409; and 54,654 head of sheep and lambs valued at $832,091. It was reported there were 21,326 separate consignments during the year.

The program included talks by J. R. Smoot, cooperative manager, on the local market reports; L. D. Kingsbury, director of organization and public relations, on the consolidated producers report; and by Howard Davison, Joe Louis and H. M. Leitnaker, all of the Eastern Order Buying Co., on the hog, sheep and cattle outlook.

There was entertainment and refreshments. A total of 350 attended the meeting.

Vatican Says Pope Improving Steadily

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today the condition of ailing Pope Pius has continued to improve and "his convalescence has begun."

The statement from the Vatican press office was the most encouraging since the pontiff took to his bed 22 days ago with a stubborn and still unexplained gastric ailment accompanied for much of the time by persistent hiccups. For several days he could not eat.

"The Holy Father slept well last night and is able to eat more," the Vatican announcement said. "He was able to leave his bed for several hours this morning."

The 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic church was still too weak, however, to say mass at his private chapel in his Vatican apartment.

"object of lies and vicious reactionary groups."

Oona told the news conference "no particular incident" had prompted her to become a Briton.

Chaplin said their five children would be British too "because children always take the nationality of their parents." Their youngest, named Eugene after Oona's father, was born in Switzerland last August.

Chaplin said his wife's new passport "does not necessarily" mean they will settle down in England. They now live on an estate near Lausanne. The film actor said they were here on a business trip.

The Chaplins were married in June, 1943. Oona is his fourth wife. They left America with their children Sept. 19, 1952, the day the US Justice Department announced its bar to his return. After enthusiastic public receptions in London, Paris and Rome they settled down in Switzerland.

Oona made a brief flying trip to Hollywood that November amid rumors—never confirmed—she went to gather up some cash. One story put the amount as high as five million dollars.

When her father died in Boston last November, Mrs. Chaplin did not return for the funeral. His will, published later, made no provision for her.

Reports Indicate Use of Municipal Airport Increasing

Reports showing increased use of the Marion airport were given last night at the first 1954 meeting of the Marion Chamber of Commerce aviation committee at the Shangri-La restaurant.

Committee members reported that the airport finished the year about $3,000 in the black, hangar space has been increased to house 20 of the 25 airplanes at the airport, and repair facilities are being enlarged to handle an increasing number of private flights stopping in Marion.

Plans for a breakfast flight were begun. The flight, to be held either in May or June, will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The committee also reported that three more air markings are needed to point out to aviators the direction of the Marion airport. At present Marion has one air marking on the roof of a building.

Lake Central Airlines representatives James Humphrey of Indianapolis and Mel Blaney of Columbus attended the meeting.

while Americans were fighting in Korea, "their victory was being thrown away by men high in the (Truman) administration who were friends or allies or willing appeasers of the Soviet destroyers."

Sponsored by Committee

Both he and McCarthy were speaking under auspices of the Republican National Committee, which Eisenhower said ought to observe the rule of moderation he voiced.

At Parkersburg, W.Va., Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) blamed previous Democratic administrations for the Communist capture of China.

Declaring that "China need never have fallen," he blamed Harry Dexter White, described as a spy by Atty. Gen. Brownell, and others for decisions he said delayed for four years aid voted to the Nationalists in 1942.

While some Democrats in Congress applauded Eisenhower's remarks, Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) said, too, that the President didn't go far enough.

"I don't believe President Eisenhower has been a party to the campaign of calumny that has developed but unless he repudiates it definitely, he must share part of the blame for it," Gillette said.

Out of Ike's Control

Sen. George (D-Ga) said while the general public is going to charge Eisenhower with responsibility for the "treason" charges, "it will be far beyond his power to control and direct what some of these Republicans say."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said he isn't kidding himself that Republicans are going to quit criticizing the Democrats, even though they must have Democratic votes to get any major measures approved by Congress.

"But I deplore this blanket, indictment of the patriotism of members of either political party—it's poor ethics," Russell said.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said the President has expressed the attitude "of a gentleman and an American."

Local Community Foundation Group Leaders Appointed

Chairmen for the year were appointed and other business transacted at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Marion Community Foundation Wednesday night in the foundation headquarters.

Harold Fralich, newly - elected president, presided and announced the following chairmen:

Ralph Howard, board membership committee; Homer D. Cole, chairman of administration of United Appeals committee, Robert Haldeman, budget committee; Paul Snyder, public relations; William Cowles, campaign cabinet; Mrs. B. H. Buettin, agency membership; John F. Lacey, pay roll deduction; Mrs. Starling Somerlot, research.

The resignation of Paul Bachman as a member of the board was accepted. A resolution on the death of David J. Isaly, first vice president, was presented. Letters were read from the Salvation Army and the YMCA, expressing their willingness to cooperate with the foundation in the distribution of agency budgets, curtailed this year because of failure of the campaign to reach its goal.

Hearing of Traffic Suit Opens in Court

A Common Pleas Court jury was seated this morning to hear testimony in a $495 damage suit arising from an accident Nov. 30, 1952 on County Road 106 west of Route 23.

Plaintiff in the case is James M. Tharp of near Marion, and the defendant is Roy T. Watts, also of near Marion. Representing Tharp is Robert Stout, while the law firm of Martin and Hall is counsel for the defendant.

Tharp was driving an eastbound automobile, while Watts was west-bound on the county road when the two vehicles sideswiped. Considerable damage resulted to both vehicles, state highway patrolmen reported at that time.

Jurors serving on the case being heard by Judge Paul D. Smith are Mary Smith, Alice Gruber, Edith L. Faurot, Doris Treherne, Roy Compton, Velma Tanner, Emil Hempstead, James Elliott, Mildred Ulsh, Richard Campbell, Thomas C. Nobley, and Mary Spaeth. Alternate juror is Daisy Russell.

Cherry Tarts Can Be Your Valentine

Toasty Flavor in Oatmeal Crust Is Feature of Family Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Bake some valentines this year. How about heart-shaped cherry tarts? Or turnovers, marked with hearts? Serve them for dessert with your Valentine supper. The tarts boast a crisp oatmeal crust with an interesting texture and a toasty flavor. The turnovers have a pretty pink apple filling.

CHERRY TARTS. Very Good To Eat Valentines.

VALENTINE TARTS

Ingredients: For Filling — ¾ cup beet or cane sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon nutmeg, 2½ cups unsweetened cooked pie cherries with juice. For Pastry — 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup shortening, ½ cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned), 4 to 6 tablespoons cold water.

Method: For Filling, mix sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg in saucepan. Stir in cherries and juice; cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened. Cool. For Pastry, sift together flour and salt into bowl, rolled oats and mix lightly. Add water, a little at a time, mixing lightly until pastry can be formed into a ball. Let rest 5 minutes. Divide pastry into 8 balls. Roll each ball out on a lightly floured board to ⅛-inch thickness. Fit pastry into small heart-shaped pans (or small tart pans). Trim, fold under and flute edges. Fill with cherry filling. Bake in hot (400F) oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until edges are lightly browned. Serve hot or cold with whipped cream.

VALENTINE TURNOVERS

Ingredients: 6 cups apple slices, 1 1-3 cups beet or cane sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon red food coloring, flaky pastry (amount you would make for 2-crust pie.)

Method: Cook apple, sugar, salt, lemon juice and food coloring together until apples are tender. Remove from heat; beat with rotary beater until smooth; cool. Divide pastry into thirds; roll each third into a 9-inch square. On one square mark 2 small hearts, upside down, in upper part of pastry, using a cookie cutter. Place a third of the cooled apple filling on the lower half, leaving a ½-inch border; fold over top and seal well along the three edges using a spoon handle. Make other 2 turnovers same way. Place on baking sheet; brush lightly with water and sprinkle generously with extra sugar. Bake in very hot (450F) oven 15 minutes or until pastry is lightly browned. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Florida Boys Fined In Vandalism Case

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—County Judge D. R. Smith fined three white boys $60 each yesterday on charges stemming from a rock-throwing raid that terrorized a Negro community near Reddick.

Clyde Traxler, 19, Ronald Morris, 17, and Wayne Sapp, 17, pleaded guilty to destroying personal property.

The foray occurred in Buzzard's Roost in mid-December. Missiles were thrown from a slowly moving car through windows of houses and a lighted flare was tossed into a car.

Sheriff Don McLeod said parents of the boys paid owners $191.50 for damages to eight houses, one store building and the car.

Dogs Survive Fire

PORT HURON, Mich (AP)—Firemen relaxed after an hour's tough fight to put out a blaze that swept a restaurant and apartment building last night. Then they were amazed. From the building ran two dogs, soaking wet but barking and wagging their tails like all get out. They'd spent the time inside, unharmed.

Woman Insists Meter Wasn't There, Was Right

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—An unidentified woman called the traffic bureau here yesterday and reported she had parked her car where there wasn't a meter and when she returned she found both a meter and a parking ticket.

Skeptical officials investigated and discovered that, sure enough, meters had been put up on that block while the car was parked.

A policeman who passed by after the new meters were installed had given her a ticket.

She was excused from paying a parking fine because of "extenuating circumstances."

Public To See 'Operation Candor'

Pentagon Lifts Secrecy Lid From H-Bomb Film

By MICHAEL AMRINE

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The American people will soon be given a startling look at the power of the hydrogen bomb, through the medium of a hitherto-secret motion picture that will be shown on all television networks and offered to all movie houses.

The decision to show the film to the public represents a step in the piecemeal program of atomic education which is all that is left of the White House's "Operation Candor," widely heralded last fall.

The film was made at Eniwetok, the Pacific atoll where the Atomic Energy Commission stages its Atomic and hydrogen bomb tests, and was first shown to a select group of officials at the White House. One said later, "It lifts you right up out of your chair."

Several of those who saw it suggested it be shown congressmen. This was done, and since then an abridged version has been viewed in secret by many other officials, including civil-defense directors of cities and states.

NOW THAT IT IS well understood that both we and Russia possess hydrogen bombs, it has been deemped proper to show the film to the whole U. S.

The decision to unveil the bomb film comes as a major change in civil-defense policy and is being worked out as one intended to be handled carefully to avoid panicking the public. It is a program to prepare cities to evacuate their inhabitants when they receive warning that an air raid is headed their way. Its effectiveness is hinged to improvements in the radar system and the interception of enemy planes and missiles.

Air Force planners until recently felt that too much emphasis was placed on the subject of air defense. A good offense is always the best defense, they argued, and strategic bombers should be built up so war could be carried to the enemy, thus recluding attack in the first place.

This is still the main theme of the Air Force planners. But they are swinging around to more emphasis on detection systems and mobilization of volunteers in ground observer corps.

GEN. THOMAS D. WHITE, vice chief of staff for the Air Force, recently put it whis way:

"The new and pressing public interest in home air defense is justified . . . Despite the danger of overemphasis we must now face the fact that our own striking power and our ability to carry the war to the enemy will not give us complete protection here at home. . ."

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson told this correspondent: "A sensible program of evacuation must succeed our present policy of 'stay where you are, duck and take cover.' The destructiveness of bigger atomic weapons means that for the city dweller the only sure way of saving your life is not to be there."

Peterson recognizes that it is all but impossible to evacuate the major cities. New York, for instance, happens to be in perhaps the worst air-defense position in the world, for if the bridges across the Hudson and the East River were destroyed, the city would be hard put to empty hundreds of thousands into the country.

OTHER CITIES in this problem class are New Orleans, between the Mississippi and a lake; San Francisco, and Baltimore, which has one of the country's toughest through-traffic problems even in a peacetime week end.

In the cards for this year are increased emphasis on home defense, on warning systems and methods of evacuating cities and on long-range plans for dispersing industry.

Politically and diplomatically, the difficulty of these measures brings increasing pressure on foreign-policy makers to speed them toward peace; toward a showdown with Russia, or toward the policy Secretary of State John Foster Dulles enunciated that we be able to chose "the times and the places", wherein we shall throw against the Russians "massive atomic retaliation."

Pilot Is Still on Ground But Flying High Anyway

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Martin Zalock, 32, wasn't able to get his four-passenger plane off the ground, but he apparently was flying pretty high anyway.

Municipal Judge Leroy Kelly fined him $200 yesterday after he pleaded guilty to operating an airplane while intoxicated. Highway patrolmen arrested him Sunday when he crashed into a ditch while attempting a takeoff.

Ohio Supreme Court Upholds Hashmall Guilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has upheld the conviction of Frank Hashmall, self-styled Communist, on two counts of false registration of a car in Akron. The court, however, cut his sentence in half.

Hashmall was sentenced to consecutive terms of six months to five years by the Summit County Pleas Court. The Supreme Court said yesterday the trial court abused its discretion in imposing consecutive sentences and directed they be served concurrently.

However, the court did not go along with Hashmall's appeal contention that no fraud was shown in his automobile registration. It said also he was not denied due process of law because of his political beliefs.

The Justice Department last October placed a detainer against Hashmall following the arrest of six Midwestern officials of the Communist party on charges of conspiring to overthrow the U.S. government by force of violence. Hashmall was a defense witness in the 1949 trial of 11 top Communists in New York City.

Court attaches said the Supreme Court's decision means Hashmall will now serve from 6 months to 5 years instead of 1 to 10 years. He is now in Ohio Penitentiary. He entered the institution May 18.

Galion Report Corrected

In Wednesday's edition of The Star it was incorrectly reported that Charles Cunningham, a member of the Galion Board of Education, told other board members that a teacher had handed the book, "Native Son", to a student and said, "Read this; it'll do you good." Cunningham did not make the statement at the board meeting, but to The Star's Galion correspondent.

Caledonia Council Hires Former Clerk for Post

Caledonia Council members hired John Winters, a former village clerk, for that post again at Wednesday night's special meeting.

The Council approved an annual salary increase for the clerk from $200 to $480.

In order to accept the position as village clerk, Winters resigned his post as Councilman. He was serving his first term. Previously he had served as village clerk for a number of years.

Council expects to appoint a sixth member to fill the vacancy at the next meeting, March 3.

Irate Iowan Pays Federal Tax Claim With 'Blood Money'

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—An irate taxpayer, who paid part of a $13,542 federal tax claim with a tub full of silver dollars over which he had poured two buckets of blood, threw the U. S. tax office into a furor here yesterday.

The taxpayer, Robert Friel, 27, of Council Bluffs, said he staged the dramatic incident to "raise hell" with tax collectors because he said they had harassed his parents during an investigation of his finances. He said he got the blood from a packing house.

He drew the ire of Iowa Internal Revenue Director Frank Halpin, who accused him of defacing U.S. money. But after the Secret Service ruled that the silver dollars were not defaced unless they were permanently damaged, Halpin agreed to accept the payment.

However, he insisted that Friel count it. That took Friel more than two hours. The payment added up to $4,997.

Disputed Goal Gives Meeker Tournament Triumph

Sharp's Last-Second Score Defeats New Bloomington

By FRED THOMAS

A disputed last-second field goal featured Marion County basketball tournament action last night as Waldo Meeker, Morral and Claridon won second round games before 1 550 fans in the Coliseum

Dick Sharp s jump shot as the final buzzer sounded gave Meeker a 50-49 win over New Bloomington although it took officials 20 minutes to decide the winner Waldo tripped Pleasant 41-33, Morral smothered Martel 76-25 and Claridon edged Caledonia, 49-42, in other games

Tourney teams will rest tonight with three games scheduled for Friday Martel meets Waldo in the opener at 6 30 p m , Meeker plays Caledonia at 7 45 and Prospect faces Green Camp at 8 Only the final game is in the championshi bracket

Win Appears Sale

New Bloomington appeared to have Meeker beaten last night when Floyd Beers put the losers ahead 49 48 with seven seconds left Sharp hit from 35 feet out but the officials first ruled the buzzer had sounded before he shot After a 20 - minute conference, Sharp s shot was ruled good and Meeker had its first tourney win

Meeker s 4 0 lead in the opening minutes was the biggest margin in the game It led 13-11 at the quarter and trailed 25 24 at halftime and 38-36 after three periods

The lead changed hands nine times in the first half as Sharp and Dave Johnson topped the scoring New Bloomington led throughout the second half until two and one half minutes to play when Bob Johnson s tip-in put Meeker ahead 46-45 Beers' two free throws put the losers back on top 47-46 then Sharp and Beers traded field goals and Sharp hit again as th buzzer sounded

Sharp and Johnson paced Meeker with 18 and 10 points while Johnson had 17, Beers 14 and Bob Schwaderer 10 for New Bloomington

Yakes Pace Waldo

Waldo s Yake brothers — Don George and Stan — proved too much for Pleasant in the opening game Don scored 9 of Waldo's first half points as the winners jumped to a 16-11 lead

Then with the score tied 29-29 in the fourth quarter, the trio tallied 12 points to coast to a 41-33 victory The loss eliminated Pleasant from the tournament It wasn t all Yakes, however as Waldo s Keith Augenstein also collected 14 points

Waldo took a 9-5 first-quarter lead and fell behind only once, 11-10 in the first half Augenstein's drive-in gave Waldo a 24-16 lead in the third period but Pleasant cut the margin to 26-23 at the quarter as Jerry Gorby the county league s leading scorer, began to hit

Darrell Stoner's lay-up tied the game at 29 all but Waldo pulled away with the Yake brothers all hitting

Don Yake had 12 and George Yake 10 points for the winners and Gorby topped Pleasant with 14 points

Morral in Romp

Although Coach Vern Hensel played his Morral regulars in only the first and third periods the Wildcats breezed past Martel, 75-25 for their second tourney win

Morral ran up 21 points in the first period 13 in the second 25 in the third and 17 in the fourth. Bob Moodespaugh scored Martel s first field goal with 12 seconds left in the first quarter The losers collected only three fielders in the first half

Four Wildcats hit double figures with Clair Hensel and Mannie Saxton each getting 13, Jim Shifflet 12 and Junior Bell 10 Dale Lindstedt and Ken Barden led Martel with nine points apiece

Morral ripped off to leads of 8-0, 19-3 and 21-4 in the opening quarter which ended 21-7 The second team moved to a 34-12 halftime lead and the regulars returned in the third quarter to grab a 59-16 margin Martel was held to two field goals and a free throw in the third period, compared to Morral's 11 fielders and 3 charity tosses

C ridon Trips Donians

Lack of height led to the defeat of a scrappy and alert Caledonia team before Claridon, 49-42

The Donians hitting well from outside, grabbed a 16-6 first quarter lead hung on 19-18 at halftime but slipped to a 29-27 deficit after three periods before Claridon's lanky forward line began to click

Rebounding and scoring by Gene Jessie, Bud Price and Gary Row in the fourth quarter stopped Caledonia as height overrode scrappy play Row, who sat out the middle two periods, and Jessie each collected five points in the last period

The first half was a scoring duel between Price and Caledonia s Ervin Hunt Hunt scored 11 of his 17 points in the firs two periods while Price netted 10 of his 12-point total in that time

Hunt was high for the game and Jessie topped the winners with 14 points

Set shooting by Hunt, Joe Green and Gene Rice got Caledonia off to a 10-point first quarter lead The Donians, however, went seven minutes in the second period without a field goal and found their lead cut to one point

Jessie s tip-in with six and a

Ivy Leaguers Planning 1956 Gridiron Action

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Football s Ivy League, long recognized by the public, will become a reality in 1956

The announcement yesterday that the governing boards of the eight loosely associated Eastern colleges had approved a round robin football schedule immediately brought up the question What will be the effect on the East's other football-playing schools

The round-robin schedule, which will require each Ivy team to play the other seven in the group, is expected to go into effect for the 1956 season—the first one for which schedules have not been drawn up The change won t be too great, for most of the schools played five or six "league" games last season and both Princeton and Columbia had round-robin schedules in 1952

But it will leave such other institutions as Army, Navy, Colgate Syracuse Holy Cross and Rutgers looking for some new opponents.

The Ivy League consists of Brown, Columbia, Cornell Dartmouth Harvard, Pennsylvania Princeton and Yale Since 1945 when the presidents of these schools first began to formalize the newspaper-created "league," they have been limited to a maximum of nine football games each season.

The agreement just approved is largely a reaffirmation and rewording of the principles first established in 1945 and added to in 1952 But it also includes approval of the principle of round robin schedules in other sports, thus drawing the members more than ever into a tightly knit group

The eight Ivy schools compose the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League and they re all members with a few others, of the baseball league, golf association and the heptagonal track association

Baltimore Orioles Continue Drive for Pennant Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles anxious to make a good impression in the American League after an absence of 50 years are going all out for a new look ' in 1954

Last season the Orioles, who were then the St Louis Browns, finished in the cellar Since shifting franchises, Baltimore has embarked on a trading program to improve the clubs position

Pitcher Vern Bickford was purchased by the Orioles yesterday from the Milwaukee Braves of the National League for an undisclosed sum As part of the deal Baltimore also sold Charles White Jr , a catcher from its San Antonio farm team, to the Braves

This was the Orioles second major deal in less than a week They obtained outfielder Sam Mele and infielder Neil Berry from the Chicago White Sox last Friday in exchange for outfielder Johnny Groth and infielder Johnny Lipon

Bickford joined the Braves at Boston in 1948 In six seasons he compiled a 66 56 won lost record

The 33 - year - old right hander handicapped by a broken finger last season won only two and lost five in 20 games a performance way below par for him The Orioles hope that he will regain his old form and bolster their pitching staff

It was disclosed that both the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees wanted Bickford, but offered only cash for him He was passed by the seven other National League clubs for the $10 000 waiver price

The Orioles also signed Frank Fanovich to bring their list of contented players to 18 The 31-year-old southpaw hurler was acquired with pitcher Joe Coleman from the Athletics during the winter in exchange for moundsman Bob Cain

Other signings yesterday included outfielder Harry Simpson and catcher Joe Ginsberg Indians, first baseman Joe Adcock, Braves, outfielder Bob Nieman, Tigers, pitcher Larry Jansen Giants, pitcher Steve Ridzik and outfielder Stan Palys, Phils, pitcher Bill Powell and catcher Dick Kinaman Redlegs, pitcher Jim Wilhs, Cubs, infielder Curtis Roberts Pirates, and infielder Jim Brideweser, Yanks

In Oklahoma City pitching ace Allie Reynolds of the Yanks revealed that he had rejected the club s second contract offer The Super Chief, reportedly holding out for $40 000, commented ' I won t say I play baseball for the money —just the amount

Prexies Meet League Foe In Home Struggle Friday

Harding's Presidents, mired in the cellar of the Buckeye League, seek their first loop victory of the season Friday and seventh win of the year when Fostoria's Redmen invade the Harding gymnasium.

Coach Jim Lawler's forces will be out to avenge an earlier 79-43 Buckeye League loss at Fostoria. Fostoria currently is nestled in fourth spot in the league standings with a 3-4 mark.

Losers of their last two games, the locals' record has slumped to 6-10 with three games, all with Buckeye League opponents, remaining. Harding is 0-7 in league play.

Fostoria also dropped its last outing, falling before Bowling Green 51-39 while Findlay edged Harding 55-54. Then last Tuesday at Shelby, Harding bowed to the Whippets 75-66.

Dick Arwood, Fostoria 6-4 center, was the big gun for the winners in the first meeting, dumping in 24 points. Hub Landers supported him with 13 while Goddard totaled 10, Nye eight, Nixon seven, Berry six, Tucker five and Thornton four.

Main reason for the lop - sided Harding defeat was the marked difference in shooting of the Prexies and the Redmen. While Fostoria connected on over 40 per cent of its shots, Harding was only connecting on slightly over 20 per cent of its attempts.

Coach Lawler today named Bob Hamor, 5-11, and Max Kaelber, 6-0, to start at forwards; Dave Schnelker, 6-2, at center; and Ron Conroy, 5-8, and either Doug Bibler, 5-7, or Don Smith, 5-7, at guards in Friday night's game.

Conroy is currently Harding's offensive ace with 232 points. He has hit on 36.9 per cent of his shots from the field. Hamor, with 144 points, is leading the Prexies in marksmanship with a 40.1 per cent figure. Smith has 141 points to his credit while Bibler has dropped in 140, Schnelker 121 and Kaelber 100. Smith, Bibler and Kaelber are all hitting on a third of their shots while Schnelker's shooting percentage is 27.6.

Fostoria has scored 375 points to its opponents' 354 in Buckeye League play, one of the best defensive marks in the loop. Harding has popped in 391 points against Buckeye League foes while giving up 476 tallies. In its 16 games to date, Harding is averaging 63.9 points per game on 1,123 points while its opponents have scored 1,001 points for a per game average of 62.5.

Current Buckeye League standings show Fremont on top with a 7-0 slate, followed by Findlay and Bowling Green, both with 5 - 2 marks. Fostoria is next and is followed by Tiffin Columbian, 1-6, and Harding.

Action Friday will begin at 6 p.m. when a group of all-star players from Edison, Baker and Taft Junior High Schools here will meet the substitutes of the Harding reserve squad.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Chuck Mather has been at his new post at the University of Kansas less than three weeks and already the worst fears of Ohio State University's football faithful have been realized.

SHORT

Tony Conkle, All-Ohio everything from East Palestine, signalled the start of what could easily be a steady parade of Ohio prep school grid talent to the Kansas school. He is the first Ohio star to cast his collegiate fortunes with Mather.

Conkle last week enrolled as a freshman at the school and will be on hand to greet Mather at his first practice session.

CONKLE, DURING his high school days at East Palestine, was a near-unanimous choice as All-Ohio fullback. In addition to his grid achievements, he also was a standout track performer. He won the state title in the shotput and finished high in several dash events. Nearly every college in the state and several from throughout the midwest made overtures toward Conkle, and his choice of schools came as a surprise in many quarters.

Prior to his announcement, Ohio fandom had expected Massilon's state championship performers to follow their coach to college and they had wondered about stars from other schools. Conkle has proven those fears were well grounded.

OSU fans are hoping the $15,000 scholarship fund, part of which has been earmarked for "students with athletic ability," will be enticing enough to hold prep school stars in Ohio for play under Ohio's Woody Hayes.

MOST OF THE die-hards are betting it will serve that purpose. Others will admit that many youths ready for collegiate action might prefer playing for Mather.

Tom Lecavits, All-Ohio end, and Bruce Schram, All-Ohio tackle from the 1953 Massilon powerhouse, already have been mentioned prominently in Mather's plans for next year at Kansas.

MICHIGAN STATE TUMBLER. Joe Bertrand of Notre Dame sends Julius McCoy, Michigan State, end over end in scuffle for ball during game at East Lansing, Mich. McCoy scored 29 points but MSC couldn't stop the Notre Dame team which rallied in the last two minutes to score seven points for a 74-71 win. No. 11 is Jim Schlatter of Michigan State.

Rematch Eyed After Slugfest By Vejar, Black

CHICAGO (AP) — There was a clamoring today for a rematch between Chico Vejar and rookie Jed Black, scrappy young welterweights who made a smash hit in a brawling 10-round draw at Chicago Stadium last night.

But it might be quite a while before the pair can tear into each other again.

Pvt. Vejar returns to Army duty at Fort Benning, Ga., after being out on a five-day pass. His manager, Steve Ellis, says he has another year to serve and any fight plans are indefinite.

Hec Knowles, pilot of Jed Black and also of Chuck Davey who twice defeated Vejar in 1952, says: "We would like a rematch—and in another month or so Black will knock Vejar out in three rounds."

Black, a former national intercollegiate champion from Michigan State, showed he could use more polish. But he put up a surprisingly good showing as a 2-1 underdog against the more experienced Vejar, ex-dramatic arts student at New York University.

Black, the stronger puncher, buckled Vejar's knees with a long right in the first round. But Vejar withstood the shock and outclassed him for the next five rounds.

Just when it looked as if Black, matched for 10 rounds for only the second time in his career, was losing steam, he dropped Vejar with a left-right uppercut combination for a nine count in the seventh. The game Vejar got up and lasted out the 20 seconds remaining before the bell.

Olympic springboard and platform diving champion Pat McCormick is the only woman ever to hold all five AAU titles in one year.

Lane Confident White Sox Can Whip Yankees

CHICAGO (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox has pulled out all the stops in giving his club a pennant pep talk.

Lane, in his annual message to the players yesterday, declared "It is a simple matter for the front office to win the American League pennant on paper but it is up to you players to win it on the field."

Lane told a reporter he hoped the players "are as convinced of winning as I am . . . . You can't beat the New York Yankees unless you believe you're better than they are."

Ted Lyons won 260 games in his 21 big league seasons, all with the Chicago White Sox.

Overtime Duels Highlight Play In YMCA's Basketball Leagues

After three-fourths of the YMCA Industrial and Independent Basketball schedule has been completed without an overtime game, two such situations occurded Wednesday night.

Raymond defeated Alloy in a double overtime fracas 65-62 and UAW-CIO edged Bird - McGinnis 59-56 in the final game which needed an extra three-minute period to determine the winner.

Alloy completed the regulation time in a 50-50 deadlock and then came roaring back in the first 90 seconds of the overtime period to hit three out of four shots from the field and take a six-point lead. Raymond kept nicking away and at the completion of the overtime period had made up the deficit to tie it up again at 62-62. Harold Garver and Johnson each scored six points for Alloy in the first overtime. After Finch had put Raymond one point up with a free throw in the second overtime period, Fensel popped in a one-hand push shot from outside the foul line in the sudden death finish.

The UAW-CIO and Bird - McGinnis finished out their game with a 52-52 after the Legion five had recovered from an 11-point first half deficit. Trailing 32-21 at the half, Bird-McGinnis began to find the range, tied it up in the early minutes of the final quarter and after the lead had changed hands four times in the waning minutes finally settled for the tie. Cahill and Davidson pieced seven points together in the overtime while Gilbert and Wolfe hit for Bird-McGinnis for a total of four to give the CIO team the verdict. Laird was the winners' top man with 16 while Don Williams had 13 for the losers.

Marion Industries clinched a tie for first place in the Industrial League standings by defeating Marion Power Shovel 73-51. The Shovel had the Industries five on the ropes early in the game as they matched the high - scoring league leaders shot for shot to take a 20-18 first period lead. The winners' height trio of Dillion, Mulvaine and Miller then began to pay off in board control as the Industries gradually pulled away in the final three periods to the victory. Harold Dillion paced the winners with 22 points while Bender for the second week in succession led the Shovel with 18.

In Tuesday night's games, postponed from Monday because of the Marion County tournament, Green Camp Elevator captured its ninth straight win by defeating Ashley 48-29. The Marion AC stayed close on the heels of the pace setting Green Camp by walloping Waldo 81-51 as Bob Smith had his best night of the year with a 32-point splurge. GI Post, also an Independent League challenger, stayed near the top of the league with a 68-61 win over McMillen Feed.

Delaware Quintets Battle for Second

RADNOR — Second place will be at stake Friday night in two games scheduled in the Delaware County Basketball League. Radnor will be at Scioto Valley in a home coming game and Big Walnut plays at Elm Valley.

Olentangy already has the league title nailed down with eight wins without a loss. Scioto Valley and Elm Valley are deadlocked for second with 3-4 marks while Radnor and Big Walnut are knotted for the cellar with 2-5 marks.

Should Big Walnut and Radnor come through with wins Friday, it would create a four-way tie for the runner-up spot. Scioto Valley or Elm Valley, whichever one wins, will be undisputed holder of second place.

Wise Step

By George Sokolsky

As a phase of the American policy in Asia, the United States has been conducting negotiations with Pakistan for military bases in that country. If a line of such bases can be established in Pakistan, Iran Iraq and Turkey, the American position in Asia will be strengthened In some instances these bases will not house American troops but will amount to financial aid for military purposes

SOKOLSKY

Turkey has already proved to be a strong ally and Iran and other Moslem states are likely to strengthen the American bastion

THE RUSSIANS have been conducting a strong propaganda drive against this activity of the United States and have put pressure on Communist and neutralist countries to protest to Pakistan against such an arrangement Now the Russians are conducting a campaign to separate Great Britain and the United States over the Pakistan Agreement.

The Moscow Radio, in a discussion of this subject for home consumption, had its commentator say

'In foisting on Pakistan a military agreement and by supplying arms, the United States is nurturing far-reaching plans aimed at undermining Britain's influence and at establishing its own control over the Pakistan Armed Forces, economy and political life These plans are being openly discussed on the pages of the U S press. . .

"By dragging Pakistan into the orbit of its influence, the United States is trying to drive yet another wedge into the edifice of the British Empire, to weaken still more its foundations, and to diminish Britain s influence The 'Times of Ceylon' expressed grave concern by saying that the U S-Pakistan military agreement would affect traditional relations among the countries of the British Commonwealth.

"This anxiety is all the more well based in that there have already been intimations in the press concerning Pakistan's eventual withdrawal from the British Empire It is, therefore, far from being fortuitous that U S diplomats conducted negotiations with Pakistan behind Britain's back According to the 'Pakistan Times' a spokesman of the British Commonwealth Relations Office admitted that neither Washington nor Karachi informed London about these talks."

OBVIOUSLY, the defense plans of the free world are part of a general plan to limit the expansion of Soviet Russia as a universal state NATO, the agreements with Spain, Greece and Turkey, the building of air bases in Africa, and the present negotiations with the Moslem states, including Pakistan, cannot possibly be unknown to our allies

They must have been discussed at the various meetings of NATO Naturally, little can be said on the subject during periods of negotiation or given out afterwards Although the Russians have succeeded in stealing many of our secrets we must continue to assume that some matters can remain secret

Pakistan is a member of the British Commonwealth It is not a British colony. It came into existence as an independent sovereign state as a result of the independence of India, from which it was separated by partition.

A Moslem country it is more likely than India to be antagonistic to the Marxist Church because no Moslem can accept an atheistic, materialistic concept of life

The pantheistic Hindu does not have similar inhibitions It is possible for a Hindu to synchretize his pantheism with Marxism and thus to avoid antagonism for Soviet Russia If anything, he can readily be neutral.

PAKISTAN is concerned over what seems to be a British preference for India To most Britishers, Bombay and Calcutta do seem more important than Karachi

To suggest however that Pakistan will leave the British Commonwealth because of a military agreement with the United States is, at this juncture, absurd because there is no conflict of interest

No matter what else is happening all about us it is a primary function of our government to work out its defense plans and to make arrangements concerning them This cannot wait for anything

It is impractical to announce the plans in advance therefore we have to take them on faith until they go wrong Then we are privileged to blame those who made the errors Until then in such matters, it is necessary to give the government blind support

Actually we have no alternative because the job has to be done and has to be done secretly It is only to be hoped that it is being done wisely

It would seem, from the nature of the situation that a military alliance with Pakistan is a wise step

Sour Notes

By Victor Riesel

I'm probably the only member of an entertainment union who won't be caught up in a series of labor disputes on the glamor front —and only because I'm just an honorary member of my beloved Screen Extras Guild These conflicts have already involved President Eisenhower, the White House Robert Montgomery, hundreds of movie theaters and scores of political banquets.

RIESEL

At the same time these upheavals on the amusement front may yet throw Arthur Godfrey Jack Benny, Milton Berle and Schozzola Durante on picket lines which would silence and blackout many of the nation's major radio and TV broadcasts.

ALL THIS turbulence springs from the desire of entertainment union leaders to fix as many jobs as possible under their jurisdiction in this economic adjustment period.

The White House became involved when it asked TV's Robert Montgomery, once head of an AFL union himself, to come down and stage President Eisenhower's broadcasts This Montgomery did, but with a CIO technical crew. The AFL Stage Hands Alliance took this as a personal insult because there is real bad blood between the AFL and CIO TV Unions

So the AFL Stage Hands and Movie Projectionists Unions which operate the "movie' machines are refusing to handle an 8½-minute film featuring Ike's special Lincoln Day speech

This short was produced by Montgomery primarily for private showing at Republican fund raising banquets on that day. It was also intended for insertion in newsreels at theaters willing to show the President delivering a Lincoln Day message.

Result is that Mr Eisenhower will not appear on movie screens unless current conferences between Montgomery and the AFL Stage Hands work out some formula for future presidential filming.

MONTGOMERY is not the only big time entertainer caught up in union action. At the moment there is a positive threat of a radio and television strike in New York by the famous Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians

This union local is now led by Al Manuti one of those bright young second echelon labor chiefs who in a decade will be up there when the older generation labor leaders now making the national headlines fade away.

Manuti is a throwback to the early crusaders, and I report with considerable awe that he disdains a union expense account. Such a man is the toughest negotiator of all, because he's a bread and butter trade unionist And what he wants from the television networks is not more money, but a simple formula:

"Live music on live shows"

He wants jobs for his people, in other words His argument is that some 65 per cent of the country's TV broadcasts are now on film This leaves a narrowing field for his followers, who already are in economic trouble.

THERE ARE, for example on the road today only two of scores of once famous name bands which once toured the country in a series of one-night stands These are the "Festival of Modern Music" and Billy Eckstine's outfit.

There is only one New York movie theater, Radio City Music Hall which has a full time orchestra And only 310 'movies' out of thousands across the land use any live music at all Hollywood had only 338 musicians under contract not too long ago—and gave partial employment to another 4 206 who averaged about $365 a year or $1 a day, if you work it out that way.

In all, Jimmy Petrillo's people have a record of only 83,596 musicians who work in radio, TV Hollywood, record cutting studios, the legitimate theater and in the 31 major and 129 secondary symphonies in the U S, Honolulu and Canada Yet there are some 244,161 dues paying members of the union This leaves 160 565 musicians, some really fine ones, too, without regular work.

SO, IN NEW YORK at least the new president of Local 802 wants to stop the tide

The studios are understandably fighting back for it is cheaper to produce with transcribed (canned) musical themes and musical 'bridges" between sections of the show or commercials.

Al Manuti says he will strike the networks if necessary to put over his "Live Music for Live Shows" slogan If he does then the picket lines around the big town's studios will keep the union's members off the air—and those members include Godfrey and his uke, Benny and his fiddle and Milton Berle, who already had to apologize for crossing one musicians picket line recently

As they go, so goes the nation's TV!

Nina

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

The last time I saw my 6-year-old goddaughter, Nina she was in pajamas and bathrobe on her way to bed, her blonde hair brushed long around her face her blue eyes languid with postponed sleep

HAL BOYLE

She came running to give me a special good night kiss Then she asked impulsively, "Hal can I tell you a secret"

Climbing up in my lap, she put her arms around my neck, and whispered in my ear very softly 'I'm in love"

She told me this strictly in confidence -but you know how women are I always figure when they tell you a secret they are 50 per cent hoping you'll spread the word for them, and 75 per cent having it out for effect—to see whether or not it is really a worthwhile secret

Nina caught me off guard I won't say I was jealous But I had that half-empty feeling any proud godfather gets when a gal who holds a special niche in his heart suddenly says she is in love —and means someone else.

"HIS NAME IS CHARLES, and he is wonderful' she said 'He is the best reader in the first grade"

That can be pretty important to a lady at 6 a lady who enjoys nothing more herself than to curl up with a good solid book of nursery rhymes When I asked Nina if Charles liked her, she went completely feminine

"Well he says he doesn't' she said and both dimples came into view, but I think he really does

After Nina had gone to bed I began cautiously asking about Charles Six or 60 (I thought) women haven't learned the secret of keeping any secret particularly on the subject of love

Nina's mother approved of the romance saying it was just right for the first grade, based on her own first grade memories She had never met Charles but understood he was a young man of high character and principle although subject to head colds in winter.

NINA'S FATHER SAID the only time he'd known Nina to falter in this very serious business of "being in love' was right after Christmas Sighing deeply she had told him confidentially 'You know Daddy, I was so excited about Santa Claus that I almost forgot about Charles" It troubled her that this was so

Next morning when Nina awoke I asked her a little more about Charles She likes to talk about him But was he the only boy in her class that she liked?

She thought that over carefully before she said 'Well no Sometimes I'm in love with Glenn But mostly I'm in love with Charles

"Which one are you going to marry?' I asked her Didn't feel the question was unfair Nina has always been determined that the only career she wants is to be a mother like her mommy

"Oh neither of them,' she said as if shocked I knew so little about her heart. I'm going to marry Jody'

'Who is Jody?' I felt I was getting more lost every moment

'Why Jody is the boy I knew when we lived in Rome He lives in California now But I've always been going to marry Jody—ever since I was 3 years old!"

That ended that Now I'm a little confused myself, but then women in love always did confuse me.

Somehow I felt sure that neither Charles nor Glenn knew about Jody, or were likely to anytime soon I guess, even at 6, a smart girl has learned always to hold one secret in reserve — or how else would women have managed to puzzle mankind since time began'

Hitchhiker in Evening Gown Hailed Into Court

PENSACOLA Fla (AP)—A woman clad in a strapless evening gown was charged with vagrancy and loitering last night after detectives found her on a suburban street hitchhiking.

They said she told them she was Daisy Weatherington of Prichard, Ala, and was thumbing her way to Jasper, Fla, to visit her husband.

The evening gown, she told the detectives, was 'the only decent thing" she had to wear.

Another group of nimrods appeared on the scene heard Arnold's convincing squawks and blasted away Arnold got a load of birdshot in his legs and one hand

Designer Plans To Resume in Fashion World

PARIS (UP) — Chanel, a byword in the French fashion world, is back this season with a financial threat to the newer designers preparing their spring shows.

Despite financial woes and tough competition which has forced closing of two Paris houses in the last few months, Mlle. Gabrielle Chanel is ready for a comeback after 15 years' absence.

The ace up her sleeve, when the shows started was abolition of the $1,000 entrance fee which Christian Dior, Jacques Fath and the other designers demand of visiting buyers. That fee is just to look. Cost of anything purchased is extra.

Away with that foolishness, says designer Chanel. Clothes cost too much anyway. She plans to reduce her prices to rock-bottom.

Mlle. Chanel also will let anyone into her showings—a far cry from the secret sessions of other designers, who make admission to their salons as difficult as crashing a cabinet meeting.

Neither Mlle. Chanel nor the other members of the Chambre Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne is giving advance word on the spring lines.

quiet about their plans.

"The big question to be answered is—"Did Dior's short skirts catch on?"

Drastic shortening of hemlines failed in the United States. Ditto for Britain, French women, maybe readier to sacrifice beauty for chic, took to it more, but even their response was half-hearted. The spring showings will tell whether the old maestro wins or loses.

Mlle Chanel made her fashion debut almost 50 years ago. Her triumphs were smart casual clothes (revolutionary in those days), introduction of jersey fabrics and heavy use of costume jewelry.

She says she plans to continue her old styles—with adjustments to 1954.

But other designers are keeping quiet about their plans.

The fabric makers, however, have given one tip-off: greater use of stiffer formal materials.

Silk and wool, or silk-wool-cotton combinations will show in spring lines. Tweeds and suit wools will have interesting relief patterns. Printed cottons and silks will vary between abstract designs on somber backgrounds and gay floral patterns.

Colors will be currant red, brick rose, cinnamon, deep vibrant blues and greens. Beige, sometimes allied with clear spring-like blue, will show also.

As usual black and white will lead as the "safe and sane" favorites.

Look, too, for original uses of suede leather for spring and summer.

In a recent Paris show, one formal dress was made of supple powder blue suede. Green suede bullfighter pants were worn with a buccaneer's cognac suede middy, while a fringed tennis dress slipped off to reveal a two-piece cognac-colored suede bathing suit.

As for swimming in the suede—better not, it might shrink.

HEADS CONTRACTORS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — Herbert J. Venderheide of Cincinnati is the new president of the Ohio State Assn. of Plumbing Contractors which yesterday changed its name from the Ohio State Assn. of Master Plumbers. The change was made to show the public the group is an organization of employers, said retiring President Irvin L. Rechkemmer of Canton.

Want U.S. Out of Europe

Soviet Intent Obvious in Berlin Talks

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western foreign ministers have been waltzing in circles with the Russian bear. It has been a dull dance. Suddenly Russia tries to quicken the music to a foxtrot, with the bear playing the fox.

But this fox is as clumsy as the bear.

For almost three weeks Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov has been meeting in Berlin with the three Western ministers: the United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault.

There was no progress, nothing new. The four ministers acted like men reciting lines they had long since memorized, as they had. Both sides took their positions years ago. They restated them at Berlin.

Then suddenly, in a change of pace, Molotov unveiled a new plan, Russian-style, which was the old plan really, but in fresh dressing: a plan for European peace.

Reports from Berlin said at one point Molotov himself had to laugh at what he was saying.

This was his plan:

The United States would have to clear out of Europe. And her allies in the Atlantic Pact would have to give it up.

(Russia had been trying for years to get the United States out of Europe. And for years it had been trying to break up the Atlantic Pact under which the Allies pledge to help each other if Russia attacks one of them.)

With the Atlantic Pact out of the way, all the European countries would make a pact of their own, pledging to help one another in case of attack on any of them.

(But this would leave Russia and her satellites the military masters of the continent. The rest of Europe couldn't stop an attack without United States help if Russia broke the new pact.

(In fact the West Europeans, without help from the United States couldn't even arm themselves well enough to stop a Russian attack now.)

This was a pretty thin plan. But Molotov cut it thinner. He would let East and West Germany unite, but in such a way that the German Communists could take over.

There was more, but that gives a general idea of the plan Molotov dumped on the conference table. Dulles, Eden and Bidault picked it up and handed it back to him.

Although there has been no progress in the conference there has been an air of amiability about it which may seem to some a sign that over a long time maybe the two sides will get closer together.

There is another view: if both sides appear a little relaxed it's because both know precisely what they want and, being strong, see no reason for yielding an inch, since an inch today may be the fatal margin tomorrow.

Germany is a good example. Under the Russian plan for reuniting Germany, Communists could take over both Eastern and Western zones.

With Germany a Russian satellite, and eventually rearmed, there'd be no force in Western Europe strong enough to withstand that combined power. So the Allies won't buy that.

Nor will Molotov buy the Western plan which would unite Germany and pretty surely mean a non-Communist and rearmed Germany lined up with the West. Both sides therefore play a waiting game.

The Communists tried military force in Korea but were blocked and may not try that in Europe. But Russia can depend on local Communist parties to try to disintegrate Western Europe by taking over from within. In Italy, for instance.

A world depression would help the Russians too. It's up to the West to see that these things don't happen while it waits for Communist crackups or a Communist change of heart about settling down and making peace.

Boys Should Have Continued To Fish

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Four junior high school youngsters cooked up excuses to get out of school for a fishing excursion yesterday.

The fish weren't biting so they went to town. Wandering aimlessly, they ended up the third floor of the municipal auditorium.

For some excitement they dropped water-filled balloons on several pedestrians in the street below.

It was a bad mistake. The window from which they were operating was in full view of police headquarters. Juvenile officers C. W. Pierce and C. B. Mead interrupted the prank, took the boys to headquarters and called their parents.

Thieves Steal Watchdog

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Thieves broke into a shoe plant during the night and took one item—a watchdog named Judy.

Easter Seal Sale Project Discussed

Plans were furthered for the annual Easter seal sale at a meeting of the Marion County Society for Crippled Children Wednesday night at the YMCA.

In discussing the annual project, Richard Brandt, president, pointed out that the seal sale is the only source of revenue available to the society for carrying on the work of aiding afflicted persons in the city and county.

Another meeting will be held Monday night at the Y when plans will be completed for the sale. Approximately 10,000 seals will be distributed locally. Serving as a committee for the 1954 sale are Robert Cunningham, Mrs. Jane V. Ross and Floyd Wilhelm.

ATTENTION PARENTS

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP)—High school students, trying out voting machines in a campaign for their use in Jackson County, gave their parents something to think about. One of the questions put to the students was: "In your belief is discipline in the modern home strict enough?" The count showed 363 students voted "yes" and 358 voted "no."

Trucker Drives 3 Young Hitchhikers To Police Station

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (UP) — Judy Eisen, 13, her sister Linda, 12, and Marian Dempsey, 13, all of Dayton, made up their minds to travel and gathered their total resources—$1. They were tired of baby-sitting and wanted to see the world they said.

They set out for "either Pennsylvania or West Virginia." They began hitchhiking and got as far as nearby Mt. Sterling without trouble.

Bayne Bernier, a Hartford, Conn., truck driver, picked them up there and drove them to the Zanesville police station.

"He certainly did us a dirty trick," the youngsters told police.

Sen. Russell Fears U.S. May Be Drawn Into Indochina Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Russell (D-Ga) and Mansfield (D-Mont) said today they fear the United States may be backed into war in Indochina.

They called upon President Eisenhower to consult Congress before taking any further steps to help the French against renewed Communist attacks. Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday there is no attempt to carry on any policy in the dark.

The President said every move the government takes to aid anti-Communist forces in Indochina is carefully calculated to keep the United States from getting involved in a hot war there.

"What I am apprehensive about," Russell said in an interview, "is getting backed into war through the chipstone assignment of personnel."

Russell, a member of the Armed Services Committee, said the committee was not told about the assignment of 200 American Air Force technicians until they were on their way to Indochina. He said by then it was too late for the committee to do anything.

"There are plenty of mechanics they could have gotten to go without sending servicemen," Russell added. "There are plenty of mechanics in France."

The President said there appeared to be some misunderstanding about notifying the committee in regard to the technicians. He added that the technicians will handle American - provided aircraft in Indochina, will not be in combat and are scheduled to be withdrawn by next June 15.

Mansfield advised the administration to "avoid the Truman mistake" by "informing Congress before any action is taken."

"I don't want to be brought into Indochina by the back door," he added in a separate interview.

2 Sisters Will Buy Anything Wanted

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The two sisters were sitting in their downtown office when the manager of a men's clothing store called.

"We need a shark," the man said.

"A what?," the girls asked.

"A shark," came back the answer. "We're having a sale on men's shark-skin suits and we want a shark to advertise them."

Eleanor Montgomery and Virginia Johnson were nonplussed for a minute. It was a strange request even for their business. But they accepted the order and promised to do their vest.

The two are co-owners of a shop which advertises "We shop for everything."

In their business they have — almost. They have had requests from Australia, Germany, Finland and Venezuela. They've been asked to find such diverse items as a pedigreed bull, a rare first edition, an octopus, three dozen oyster eggs, 5,000 baby trout, and the shark.

Finding the shark took some doing. Through a friend, they found a place on a San Francisco beach where marine life was sold. Here was a shark all right — floating around in a 30,000-gallon tank. To get a closer look required entering the tank in a diving bell.

Eleanor volunteered and descended into the water. Back on dry land a few minutes later, she was unenthusiastic.

"What's the matter?," asked the proprietor. "Don't you like our sharks?"

"Oh, they're fine," Mrs. Montgomery answered. "But there aren't any gray ones. The clothing store specified gray. It's sale is on gray shark-skin suits."

The two say the order which pleased them most came from the lonely wife of an oil worker on an isolated project in Saudi-Arabia. She wrote that life in the desert was pretty drab for a woman, but one thing would help make it bearable.

"Send me a bright party dress," she wrote, "something to break the monotony."

"That was the simplest request we ever filled," Virginia said. "And I wish they all were as gratifying."

KEFAUVER TO SPEAK

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) argues against the controversial Bricker proposal in a debate tonight with Seattle Lawyer Frank E. Holman. The proposal, which would limit the President's treaty-making powers through an amendment to the U S Constitution, comes up in the Senate for a vote Tuesday. Holman is a past president of the American Bar Assn. and a former dean of the University of Utah Law School.

Working Force Brings Boost in Day Nurseries

CHICAGO (UP)—The first day nursery in the U. S opened in New York City 100 years ago, but today there are more than 3,500 throughout the country.

The American Society of Planning Officials cited those figures in a study of the development of the day nursery as a national institution.

Behind the figures, the society said, is the story of mothers joining the labor force in ever increasing numbers through the depression of the 1930's, through World War II, and in the present period of defense status.

The society said the number of working married women with children under 18 rose from 1,500,000 to 5,262,000 during the years from 1940 to 1951.

The need for day nurseries can no longer be classified as a temporary or emergency one, the society said.

ALLIANCE SETS RECORD

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—This city of 26,000 population has gone 547 days without a traffic fatality. The last death in an accident was Aug. 23, 1952, when a 16-year-old boy was killed while riding a motorcycle.

Drink it! Wonderful, fresh flavor. Gives you same amount of B vitamins, proteins, calcium, and other milk minerals as top-quality milk. Starlac is milk minus the fat and water.

Cook with it! Enjoy smooth, rich-tasting puddings and custards with Starlac. Use it to cream vegetables. Serve your family tempting, nourishing soups and chowders made with Starlac.

Bake with it! Use Starlac for your favorite cake. Bake tender muffins, light biscuits, crisp cookies. Use it in "made with milk" recipes. Keep a quart in the refrigerator at all times.

WHY STARLAC IS 3 ways better!

because Starlac is guaranteed by Borden to be top-quality, pasteurized milk (minus water and fat) from tested herds only.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy demand for New York Central at sharply increased prices today featured a generally higher stock market

The buying surge in Central came as the management of the railroad and Robert P Young squared off for a proxy fight to the finish over control of the valuable property

Higher Stocks included Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line 20th Century-Fox, American Telephone, Allied Stores, Boeing, and General Electric which shot ahead around three points at one time in a short flurry of demand

Another Tribute to Abraham Lincoln 1809 - 1865

In honoring Lincoln we display many of the factors that have preserved this nation's government in the basic forms conceived by its founders We pay tribute to truth, honesty, industry and wisdom as exemplified by his life.

His story proves too that this is a land of opportunity and that he was not handicapped by being born in a log cabin without apparent resources Largely by his own efforts he achieved highest office and honors.

Stop Taking Harsh Drugs for Constipation

Avoid Intestinal Upset! Get Relief This Gentle Vegetable Laxative Way!

For constipation, never take harsh drugs. They cause brutal cramps and griping, disrupt normal bowel action, make repeated doses seem needed.

When you are temporarily constipated, get sure but gentle relief—without salts, without harsh drugs. Take Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative contained in Syrup Pepsin. The extract of Senna in Dr. Caldwell's is one of the finest natural laxatives known to medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative tastes good, gives gentle, comfortable, satisfying relief of temporary constipation for every member of the family. Helps you get "on schedule" without repeated doses. Even relieves stomach sourness that constipation often brings.

SALESMEN
Be Our Luncheon Guest
WE OFFER A
ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME
OPPORTUNITY
Four years ago the DICTOGRAPH CORPORATION a name famous in American industry for more than fifty years, opened a new division. Since that time, more than 100 additional offices have been opened throughout the nation, and more than 2,000 men have found the career for which they had been looking all their lives.

If seelcted, you will be trained at company headquarters school for 3 days at FULL COMPANY EXPENSE and then assigned to a sales force in the Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Morrow, Wyandot counties area where immediate average commission earnings will EXCEED $150 WEEKLY, and in some cases go as high as $25,000 yearly.

A luncheon will be held at 1 o'clock Sunday, February 14th at the Mansfield-Leland Hotel, Mansfield, Ohio, at which time the whole program will be discussed in detail.

We cordially invite you to be our guest at lunch to investigate this opportunity which may be the turning point in your life.

Navy Criticizes Salute, Orders One Every Day

HONGKONG (UP) — A British shipping firm does public penance every day for giving its founder a 21-gun salute more than 100 years ago.

In the 1850's, Jardine-Matheson company decided it would go all out in welcoming to Hongkong the head of the firm. So it fired a 21-gun salute from a battered old cannon perched atop a mountain on the island as Jardin's ship sailed into port.

The Royal Navy was critical. Twenty-one gun salutes are for monarchs and heads of state, not for a shipping magnate, it said.

So the Navy sentenced the company to this perpetual penance: "Since you like to fire your cannon so much, you can fire it every day, but just one round, at noon."

Came World War II, and the cannon just fell apart from nonuse. Jardine-Matheson was gleeful—no cannon, no noon round.

But the Navy wasn't going to let the firm get away with that. It gave Jardine-Matheson a brand-new cannon.

So to this day, sharply at noon, a single burst of cannon fire resounds through Hongkong.

Tree Mosses Diclose Possible Food Sources

CONCORD, N. H. (UP)—Any body who gets lost in the woods can get more calories to eat from lichens than from an equal amount of honey, hominy, corn flakes, cabbage and about 50 other foods.

The state fish and game department said so after tests conducted at the engineering experiment station of the University of New Hampshire.

Lichens, "such as the gray stringy tree moss which clings to northern firs and spruces," provide nearly "a third more calories per unit weight than most staple foods."

Lichens, living on tree trunks, rocks or barren ground, are natural food factories, trapping nourishment from air and sunlight. They etch out "valuable minerals from the very rocks to which they cling."

POOR DARLING, YOU DID RIGHT... DON'T WORRY... NOTHING CAN COME BETWEEN US!

Officials Meet Here

Telephone Firm Reports Expansion of $4,629,000

Additions to its plant facilities in 1953 totaled $4,629,000, Clare E. Williams, president of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio, reported at a meeting of company officials in Marion Wednesday. Sixteen division managers and department heads attended.

During the year, 12 new dial central offices were added to the firm's 135 exchanges throughout the state. Ten of these were conversions from manual magneto switchboard installations and two were replacements of dial equipment.

AN ALL TIME high of 93,941 telephones were in service on Dec. 31, 1953. During the year, the company's facilities were used to place some 123 million local messages, an increase of about 20 thousand a day, while long distance calls reached a record high of 6,131,000. By year's end there were 1,342 employes and the annual payroll was $3,713,185.

At the annual meeting, held in the firm's general offices on St. Main St., Williams stated his company pays $32.92 in taxes on each telephone in service.

ALL THE TAXES incident to operation, federal, state and local, amounted to $3,038,891 in 1953.

He pointed out that these taxes are paid by most businesses, but that the 15 per cent to 25 per cent excise taxes paid directly by the consumer on local and long distance telephone calls is a unique tax among public utilities. Williams stated that no such tax exists on gas, electricity or water rates, but are "imposed upon telephone service charges along with so-called luxury items of an entirely unrelated nature."

Williams told the gathered company officials that 1953 was one of outstanding achievement toward General's primary objective of meeting fully the current requirements for improved service affecting all 135 areas of operation throughout the state.

WILLIAMS OUTLINED 1953 improvements in the Marion exchange and those planned for 1954. He said 375 people were employed here and the payroll reached $1,100,000 last year. He compared this to 79 persons and $120,000 in 1946.

William said considerable wire expansion had been performed in Marion in 1953 to form connecting links between home phones and dial equipment. Included here, he said, was the largest distribution cable ever installed in Marion, ranging in size from 25-pair to 1600-pair lines. All cable in the downtown and main arterial streets is now underground, he revealed.

The telephone company president said new toll switchboard equipment had been installed in Marion, including an addition of 1,020 lines to the dial system, enabling the company to handle a record 2,812 long distance calls that originated in Marion last Nov. 25.

Plans for this year, Williams disclosed, constitute a continuation of those started in 1953, with special emphasis on joining rural areas to the Marion exchange.

Woman Revealed as Man

Masquerade Is Disclosed In Columbus Court Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—A 35-year-old woman who dressed as a male since she was 7 and whose masquerade confounded a criminal court pondered the future today as she awaited transfer to the state reformatory for women.

"There can't be much of a future now," Violet Marie Bradshaw told a newsman. "I don't know whether I will be able to live it down."

Violet was unmasked as a woman in a sensational turn of events yesterday after she had been sentenced to a term of 1 to 10 years in Mansfield Reformatory, an institution for men only, on an embezzlement charge.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds hastily changed the sentence to the Marysville Reformatory for Women after Violet's brother, Patrick, protested the person appearing in court dressed as a man actually was a woman.

Violet appeared in court as Vernon M. Bradshaw. Her "bride" of last August, Vera L. Bradshaw, 29, fled the courtroom after the startling revelation. Newsmen were unable to locate her afterward.

But Violet told newsmen the disclosure of her masquerade "must have taken her by surprise. I tried to tell her myself, but I couldn't get around to it."

Mrs. Vera Bradshaw has 2 children—a boy 12 and a girl 8—by a previous marriage.

There was no pretense in her masquerade in her native Kenova, W. Va., for many years, Violet told newsmen. She said she was known there by her correct name, adding:

"I started wearing boys' clothes when I was about 7, when I started to school. I have worn boys' and men's clothes ever since.

The Hi-Grade Ice Cream Co. was the firm for which "Vernon M. Bradshaw" worked and subsequently was indicted on a charge of embezzling $300. It was on this charge Violet appeared in court yesterday.

Questioned about the embezzlement, she said:

"My mother is sick. She is 65 and is losing her eyesight and has diabetes. To help pay the doctor bills and (her deceased) father's bills—I was helping pay some of them off—that I took the money."

About four years ago, Violet told newsmen, she met Vera and rented a room from her. She continued:

"I roomed at her house. I paid my way and she paid hers. It was strictly on a business basis.

"Vera has two children by a previous marriage. There was a lot of talk about her losing the kids if I continued living there and so we got married. I did it to keep her from losing her kids. I didn't know it would go this far or I never would have done it.

"She began to mistrust me. She asked me, among other things, why I didn't shave."

MASQUERADE ENDS IN COURT. Violet Marie Bradshaw (right), whose long masquerade as a man exploded dramatically in a criminal court in Columbus after a judge sentenced her to the penitentiary for embezzlement, watches glumly as a deputy sheriff sets the record straight. Arrested last summer as Vernon Bradshaw, 35, of Kenova, W. Va., on a charge of embezzling $2,000 from an ice cream company, Violet served three days in county jail before release on $1,500 bond. After sentencing at trial's end, a man who identified himself as Patrick Bradshaw, the defendant's brother, rose in court to reveal his sister's sex.

BUFFALOED

LAWTON, Okla. (UP) — Can a man collect insurance on a car that has been rammed by a buffalo? That's the question E. C. Williams asked after his auto was smacked head-on by a buffalo in the Wichita Wildlife refuge near here. Williams was driving to the refuge headquarters and slowed down to pass a herd of buffalo. A playful yearling suddenly dashed across a pasture, lowered his head and bulled into the car. He left a cracked grill and a caved-in hood.

Awards Given To Boy Scouts

Court of Honor Held By Troop at Trinity

Annual Scout dinner and court of honor was held by Boy Scout Troop 4 of Trinity Baptist Church Monday night at the church. A large number of Scouts, their parents and friends, and troop committee members were present.

Invocation before the meal was given by Melvin Keeran. The supper was served family style under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Albert.

A message of welcome and a short talk on Scouting were given by Dr. J. B. Holloway, pastor of the church, after which group singing was led by Delmar Brewer, master of ceremonies.

In the program, introductions were conducted by Kenneth Albert who also outlined aims for the troop, a film, "Nature's Children," was shown by Dean Myers, and a number of short skits and plays were given by the various patrols.

The court of honor was under the direction of Lewis Ashworth, chairman of troop advancement. Donald Schwaderer, Scoutmaster, conducted tenderfoot investiture for six boys, David Long, Tom Barber, John Maag, David Dodds, Dick Farson and Gerald Bosh. Floyd Arthur awarded second class badges to four boys, Gary Myers, Gary Davis, Elsworth Russel and Larry Weiser. Dr. Charles Wilson presented the first class award to Edgar Lust and Dr. Holloway made a presentation of Star Scout awards to four boys, Billy Schwaderer, Jeffrey Wise, Darryl Lambroff and Richard Weston. A total of 34 merit badges also were awarded.

The closing ceremony included group singing of the Scout vesper song, benediction by Dr. Holloway, and taps and the echo sounded by Donny and Billy Schwaderer.

An Old Argument

A constitutional debate in the United States ultimately is good for everyone.

Anything which causes Americans to learn more about their basic law and the thought behind it is to their advantage.

In connection with the debate started by the proposed Bricker amendment, it is of the deepest significance that The Federalist, the historic collection of essays in which Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay set forth the theory of the Constitution in order to have it adopted by the states, contains every point of view being discussed in 1954.

This is an old argument—one of the oldest in the republic and one of the fiercest.

When the Constitution was still awaiting approval by the states, John Jay commented on jealousy between the three coordinate branches of the new federation. It should be remembered he was writing in anticipation of a contest for power which has broken out time and time again.

"However useful jealousy may be in republics, yet when, like bile in the natural, it abounds too much in the politic," he wrote, "the eyes of both become very liable to be deceived, by the delusive appearances which that malady casts on surrounding objects."

The debate over the Bricker amendment is suspended this week while Republican congressmen — spiritual heirs of Hamilton, Jay, Madison and the original Federalists — make their traditional Lincoln Day speeches.

Before Congress gets back into stride, all its members may have found time to rediscover what was written in The Federalist in the 18th century. It will help them to keep their tempers and their historic perspective.

Life Is Cheap

The faith and fervor of an estimated 3,500,000 Hindus of India assembled at Allahabad for a river-bathing ceremony burst into lethal flame when uncounted hundreds were trampled to death.

There was no malice in this, no intended hurt. And there will be no recriminations. On the contrary, since the disaster occurred at a holy place, it is reported the survivors of the dead feel that their relatives and friends attained distinction.

Somewhat the same notion soothed the survivors of Japanese trampled to death a few weeks ago when a multitude got out of hand while celebrating the emperor's birthday. The victims became a kind of ceremonial sacrifice.

When men have learned more about mass psychology, these incidents will fit into the evidence that whatever rationality men may attain is never adequate for their security when they are threatened with danger in the mass.

There is no more sense to be made out of the casual destruction of hundreds of Hindus in India during a religious ceremony than there is to be made out of the destruction of hundreds of American lives in traffic every time there's a holiday. They die for no better reason than neglect of the security which would enable them to live.

Psychiatrists trying to understand men's disregard for the thing most precious to them—life—will do well to concentrate on America first and save the relatively simple puzzle of mass destruction among Asiatics until later.

Price of the Press

In newspaper shop talk in years to come, the name of Byron Price will be mentioned often in connection with a significant accomplishment.

Price, who resigned last week as assistant U.N. secretary general for administrative and financial services, used to belong to the press. He once was the acting general manager of Associated Press, which is as high up on the ladder of practical accomplishment as any working newspaperman can aspire to climb.

In 1941, he took over the federal government's censorship program and handled it so well it never occurred to anyone that voluntary censorship in wartime couldn't be made to work. Four days after the war was over, he terminated his own job, refusing to let it die a lingering and costly death. He terminated his job with the U.N., too, having reorganized his department so efficiently he had nothing to do.

Byron Price's fellow toilers in the vineyard of the printed word are proud of his accomplishment in these other vineyards which newsmen are everlastingly examining with a critical eye. Hereafter when some annoyed jobholder snaps at a newsman, "Whyn't ya try your hand at it, bub, if you think you know so much?" the rest of us can smirk and reply, "Well, one of our boys did just that. Made a big success of it too."

If it won't interfere with his plan to grow tomatoes in retirement, this is a proposal that Byron Price be canonized as an ink-stained wretch who lived down his handicap as a sideline critic.

Surplus Ship Deal Illustrates Value

Again and again in recent months people have asked this question: "Of what good are congressional investigations — Why can't the executive agencies turn up law violations?"

Perhaps the most conclusive answer has just come in the form of a cause-and-effect relationship between what the Senate Committee on Government Operations discovered in 1952 and the announcement in the last two days that the Department of Justice had obtained indictments by a federal grand jury against former Representative Casey and several others in connection with alleged fraud in the transfer of government ships to private owners.

A SUBCOMMITTEE, headed by Sen. Hoey and including in its membership Sen. McCarthy, now the chairman of the same group, conducted a sweeping investigation with public hearings which wound up with this report in May 1952:

"The subcommittee is of the opinion that there appears to be sufficient evidence of violations of the civil provisions of the Merchant Ship Sales Act in these tanker transactions to warrant prompt action by the Department of Justice.

"In addition, the concealment and misrepresentation of pertinent facts by various officers and representatives of the firms involved in this inquiry in their dealings with the Maritime Commission leads the subcommittee to believe that various criminal statues may have been violated by these individuals. In view of the long delay which has already occurred in making final determinations in these cases, it is the recommendation of the subcommittee that the Department of Justice take prompt and vigorous action to bring these cases to a logical conclusion. This is a unanimous report of the subcommittee."

NOW CASEY and his associates have merely been indicted and they are presumed innocent under the law until proved guilty, but the significant fact is that an official Senate inquiry into their transactions has revealed a lengthy record.

As a consequence of the use of the power of subpoena by Congress, the Department of Justice has a clearer and more comprehensive view of the whole series of transactions than might have been developed at the actual trial itself which is, of course, governed by rules of evidence that are far more restrictive than the scope of testimony taken by congressional committees.

The main point to note, however, is that the "methods" used by the Senate subcommittee in 1952 are not essentially different from those being pursued by the same committee today under the chairmanship of Sen. McCarthy except for the occasional outbursts that occur when witnesses refuse to testify. Outbursts by committee members, however, are as privileged as speeches on the floor of the Senate itself and there is no rule that can be adopted by which any senator or representative can be restrained from speaking his mind about any witness at a hearing.

THE FACT remains that, due to the interrogation and persistent investigation by the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, it was possible for that committee to say in its report:

"This entire investigation has demonstrated to the subcommittee how various groups of shrewd and calculating businessmen and attorneys, through an intricate series of corporate and financial transactions, were able to realize substantial profits by taking advantage of the confusion and mismanagement which marked the administration of the surplus ship disposal program by the old Maritime Commission.

"Had the commission administered that program in a business-like manner and in accordance with the clear intent of the law, it would have been impossible for the individuals and firms involved in this inquiry to have engaged in activities which violated the spirit and, in many instances, the actual letter of the law."

None of the so-called "liberals" will be found objecting when the end result is an attack on unscrupulous individuals in the business category but only when the attack is on individuals who are related to the Communist controversy.

INCIDENTALLY, SEN. LEHMAN has just felt obliged to issue a statement of explanation justifying his vote for a $214,000 appropriation for the McCarthy committee. The New York senator says:

"I believe in that power (congressional power to investigate) and its legitimate exercise.

I do not believe the proper cure for the disease, in this case or any other case, is the paralysis of all the functions of the committee by cutting off appropriations."

Lehman said he would continue to press for a reform in the rules of investigating committees.

One wonders whether easing up on those "methods" of congressional committees which the Communists and fellow travelers, among others, criticize so much isn't going to require an easing up also on a host of other persons whose malpractices are regularly uncovered by congressional committees investigating transactions between businessmen and the government.

Democrats Hedging on Depression Talk

By Jay G. Hayden

Democratic party spokesmen in the United States and the Russian government appear to be hedging simultaneously on their earlier predictions that economic depression will catch up with the Eisenhower administration before election day next November.

In marked contrast with what Chairman Hall of the Republican National Committee termed the "gloom and doom" pronouncements by Adlai Stevenson, Sens. Douglas and Morse and Walter Reuther, two top members of the Democratic left wing now discount the prospect of recession.

Leon Keyserling, formerly President Truman's top economic adviser, declared in a formal statement that "A serious economic downturn in 1954 is rather unlikely" and he would not be surprised "if the level of production and jobs for the year as a whole is close to 1953." The latter year despite a slight decline in its last quarter, was the most prosperous in all U.S. history.

SIMILARLY, Sen. Monroney said that he saw little chance of a serious recession in 1954. The change in the Russian forecast was made by Eugene Varga, long the Soviet's foremost economic analyst.

Writing in Pravda last October, Varga saw the United States moving swiftly down the depression road. In a parallel review just now published he finds it "Difficult to outline the exact picture of the further development of crisis phenomena in the current complex of the ever deepening general crisis of capitalism."

Varga still thinks "Overproduction in the United States is, in ever greater measure, becoming an active factor." His forecast of a quick drop is missing. Rather, he says, U.S. production in some months ahead may actually rise.

The Russian economic expert seems puzzled by the fact that, whereas the New York Stock Market slumped over several months last midyear, when U.S. production was at all time peak, stock prices currently are booming in the face of a mild production letdown.

Varga indicated that he was misled by the Stock Market decline last summer into believing that U.S. production was on the toboggan, only to learn after his October report was written that production rose in August, as compared with July.

THE REALLY crucial developments bearing on the economic outlook are:

That the people with the biggest financial stake in the economic future of the United States are expressing their confidence in billions of new investments, and that practically all leading economic researchers latterly have been talking optimistically.

Businessmen's faith in the economic future is typified by General Motors' announcement of a billion - dollar plant expansion program to carry into 1955.

Excepting a few lububrius politicians and labor leaders, virtually all witnesses appearing before the congressional committee on the economic report agree that while a mild downward readjustment now is going on it will be of short duration and leave 1954 over-all very close to the 1953 boom performance.

Testimony before the committee has defined an issue sure to be heard much of in the approaching election campaign, no matter hich way the economic pendulum swings.

The Democrats, including Reuther and other labor leaders, have been howling with all their might for direct use of federal appropriations to take care of the unemployed.

The all - important thing, this group says, is consumer purchasing power. Quite truthfully, they argue, each man laid off reduces just that much the money available to buy everything from groceries to automobiles and electric refrigerators.

THIS IS substantially the doctrine pursued by President Roosevelt throughout the 1930's, even to the point of paying wages from the government treasury to everyone who had no income otherwise—even if they did nothing but rake leaves or sometimes did no work at all for cash received.

The Eisenhower administration in no wise disagrees from the idea that purchasing power is, in the final analysis, the thing that makes the economic mare go. But they do hold that there are better ways of stimulating purchasing power than handing out the thinnest possible wage envelopes to people laid off from factories closed because of lack of customers.

Personal income taxes have been reduced all along the line, with the effect of directly stimulating consumer purchasing. At the same time, the excess profits tax has been repealed with the effect of leaving more cash in corporate hands with which to carry on expansion programs and provide employment for more hands, such as General Motors announced.

Because taxes are an overhead cost of production, reduction of taxes on manufacturers by any process paves the way for lower prices on the commodities produced, with effect of making them easier for the consumer to pay for.

Just how this new scheme will work, only full experience can tell. The mere suggestion of it by President Eisenhower was enough to skyrocket industrial stocks to the highest price level in 25 years.

Poets Are Born

By TRUMAN TWILL

"Death," mused Maxwell Bodenheim, one of the poets of the Twenties," is a black slave with little silver birds perched in a sleeping wreath upon his head."

Some of us remembered that when Bodenheim and a woman named Ruth Fagan were found murdered in a New York tenement, Bodenheim had believed that when Death came he would tell of his coming . . . "his voice like jewels dropped into a stain bag."

But when death did come, it was a savage onslaught, a harsh cry, the rasp of a knife and the bark of a gun—a drab extinction of a sleasy remnant of life with no more poetry in it than a bug being ground out on a dirty pavement.

Yet, because Bodenheim had seen it otherwise in his mind's eye it will be that way as long as his words are remembered. The last years of his gritty, horrible existence as a boozefighter in Greenwich Village will be forgotten.

The Bodenheims of this world have a strange problem. When they get licked by it, those of us who eat well and sleep warm owe a glimmer of compassion to help us see the frailties of our brothers. The poets among us are rarely happy, if they are real poets, and we do little to help them.

Their special problem is perspective. They do not see things the same as the rest of us see them. That is why they are poets. They wriggle and squirm to get a better view until sometimes they get trapped sometimes like Floyd Collins in his cave. And sometimes they perish there, beyond rescue.

When Bodenheim went bohemian with people like Theodore Dreiser, Upton Sinclair, Willa Cather and Eugene O'Neill in the Twenties he did not know they would come out of it and he wouldn't. The idea was that none of them would want anything better than the madcap existence of Greenwich Village which was supposed to feed their creative ability.

Bodenheim never got himself out of the speakeasies. He was not a success story. Instead of going from bad to better, he went from bad to worse, pushed from behind, it may be imagined, by a realization that keeps breathing down the necks of poets from the day they first take pen in hand.

There is no table of rates for rewarding people who are handy with poetry. Theirs is the least remunerative of all the talents exercised by wordsmiths. They would do better if they could write singing commercials.

It is tough luck, being a poet. It is worse than being an acrobat. It is not as good as being a plumber or an electrician. Poets see "little silver birds perched in sleeping wreaths." They do not bring home the bacon, though one never can be sure they won't scribble some combination of words that will go ringing down the echoing corridors of time.

Poets are, of course, born, never made. Being a poet is something that happens to only a few among the many as life grinds up the grist of human entities and spews them out as cosmic dust. It is good that there aren't more.

Maxwell Bodenheim was a bum. His life was untidy. He was a lush. But as such things go, he was a poet and may have been as successful in his fashion as any of the people he offended with his untidy life. He hadn't been forgotten, though he had been all but dead for half a generation.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The first child baptized in the First Presbyterian Church was Sarah Knapp on Sept. 29, 1828. The first death in the membership was that of James Carr on Oct. 13 of that year. The first marriage of a member of the congregation took place Oct. 30, 1828 when Anna Ballentine became the bride of John Mortgeridge. The church incorporated Jan. 31, 1832 and was known as "The First Presbyterian Congregation of Marion." Adam Uncapher, William Bain, John Wildbahn, Thomas Henderson and John Ballentine were the incorporators. The first two were charter members.

Swords and Fine Zeals

By MARK DANA

The permission now granted for regular and temporary naval officers to resign after four years of commissioned service should improve the morale of this military service branch, even if a large number of officers do not take advantage of it.

The morale of all the service branches has been low of late, what with sweeping personnel reductions, removing distinctions (in uniforms for instance) between enlisted and officer personnel, slowness of promotions, increasing costs of appropriate living, etc.

Recently, Marine officers were asked to "wear" swagger-sticks to stimulate their pride of calling, and the Navy now has restored the dress sword for officers for ceremonial occasions, with the same objective. The naval sword prior to World War II was a mighty symbol of the service. It was a badge of officer authority; it added prestige to the quarter-deck, and through the decades man naval officers have passed their swords down to their sons and grandsons. Its return as a morale-building gesture, and the psychhlogical effect of service chaining removal, may restore some of the intense traditional glory of service.

The Army, replete with involuntary draftees and with the officer ranks cluttered by many commissioned men on temporary duty, has its own morale problem. Few drafted men respond effectively to training and other Army opportunities; their military ambitions are diluted by their hope to get out as soon as possible. In both officer and enlisted ranks in all the services, mediocre persons tend to remain in uniform, leveling down the zeals and ambitions and service traditions of careerists. The whole problem goes much deeper than swords and swagger sticks.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Revisitation

Abe Lincoln, free from a heavenly stay,
Took a trip back home to his U.S.A.;
An angel, cast as a tourist guide,
Took long, long steps at the great man's side:
"What's up?" asked Abe, as he rubbed his eyes;
"You're in," said the guide, "for a big surprise:
Some changes big to you I'll point—
You'll never recognize the joint."

II

Abe asked for the cabins he had known. .
The beat-up shacks by the chill winds blown. . .
The barren room with one window small
Where a boy had dreams so grand and tall.
The bare earth floor that could give God's grace. . .
The stick-plaster chimney and fireplace. . .
The woodlot out in the clearing bleak. . .
The mood of the lowly and the meek.

III

He looked in vain with a troubled brow;
"Things have changed," said the tourist guide, "and HOW!
The cabin's gone and a new day's come;
If a house needs paint you are in a slum;
When the kitchen's small, without stainless steel,
And the stove ain't new for the evening meal,
It's an underprivileged life, my friend,
And no good can come of it in the end."

IV

"Hold your hat," said the guide, "we are going through
A zone now gleaming with dream homes new:
The kids are doing their studies tense
In the rumpus rooms and the TV dens;
The folks have gone to the grocery store,
By car (for it's fully two blocks or more);
It's five o'clock but I'd have you see
They all quit work at half-past three."

V

The old rail splitter surveyed the scene:
Sleek cars, fine homes and no meat too lean;
Iceboxes gorgeous, TV sets new—
(All this and social security, too!)—
Abe said, "The common man's my guy;
I love to see him ridin' high,
But my sense of belief is running thin—
COULD YOU MANAGE TO SLIP ME AN ASPIRIN?"

Carl Sandburg writes that the story Lincoln liked most about himself was the one in which one Quakeress said to another, "I think Douglas will win because he's a praying man." "But Lincoln is a praying man, too," her friend replied. "Yes," was the answer, "but the Lord will think Lincoln is joking."..

A winter vacationist tells us he overheard two opulent playboys talking, flat on their backs on a Palm Beach swimming float, and one asked the other, "Has the unemployment trend got you scared?"

The current auto show in New York displays a "kit-car." You buy the parts and put it together yourself. . . Does 50 per hour and gives at least 50 miles per gallon.

THE SLUMP-MONGER SPEAKS

A big depression's coming fast—
My ardent cry is "Let it!"—
How disappointed I will be
In case WE DO NOT GET IT!
